JAMES HILL FITTS.

THIS Volume III of Lane Genealogies contains the last work of Rev. J. H. Fitts. The body of the book was complete and in the hands of the printer. Mr. Fitts, on finishing the copy of an index, laid down his pen to go to the post office for his mail. Returning, a near neighbor setting some rare hedge plants, asked him to cross the street and see them. He handed the label with the name of the plants to Mr. Fitts, who read it aloud, returned it and at once fell forward lifeless, his face in the soft earth, Novemember 22, 1900. The cause of his death was heart disease, of which he had had some premonitions, but with no thought of such a termination.

The Preface, toward which Mr. Fitts left notes, has been prepared by Alfred Church Lane, A. M., Ph. D., F. G. S. A., of Lansing, Michigan. The Annals, etc., have been arranged and completed by his brother, Lucius Page Lane, S. B., A. M., of Boston, who has also completed the indexes, by the aid of Miss Ellen W. Lane, and her sister, Elizabeth Nickerson (Lane) Church, of Malden, Mass. It remains for an old friend to add a notice of Mr. Fitts, especially in relation to his genealogical work, as a fuller general memorial of him is in preparation.

Rev. James Hill Fitts was born in Candia, N. H., March 3, i 829 , of John, the 7 th generation from Robert Fitts, 1640 , and Abigail Lane, the 6th, from William Lane; of Boston, r648.* He attended Pembroke Academy and Merrimack Normal Institute, N. H., and graduated at Bangor Theological Seminary, Me., 1858, and was a member of Andover Theological Seminary, 1870-71. He preached at Boxboro, Mass.; was ordained at Candia, N. H., November 2, 1859 ; installed at West Boylston, Mass., September 3, 1862 ; Topsfield, Mass., June 22, 1871 ; acting pastor at South Newmarket, now Newfields, N. H., April 18, 1880, till his death.

[^0]January 1, 1862, he married Mary C., daughter of C. M. and Dolly (Pillsbury) French, who survives him. Before study at Bangor he taught in schools and academy in Maine and Massachusetts, served two terms of three months each on the Christian Commission in the civil war, and was on school boards wherever he was pastor. As one of the School Board, Mr. Fitts wrote the annual reports, and the esteem felt for him was manifested by the attendance on his funeral at his church in Newfields, of the schools as a body, and their provision for his picture to be placed in the school building. In 1895 Mr . Fitts represented the town in the state legislature, and was influential in changing its name from South Newmarket to Newfields, the early designation of the southerly portion of the town of Newmarket a century or more before its division. This change was influenced by a legacy of $$$ ro,000 from Hon. John M. Brodhead, son of Rev. John Brodhead, to the town for a library on condition of such change. Mr. Fitts was a trustee of this fund. He was a member of the New England HistoricGenealogical and the New Hampshire Historical Societies, and of several missionary societies, and for thirteen years was scribe of the Piscataqua Association of Congregational and Presbyterian ministers. A writer of various historical and commemorative discourses, and an indefatigable investigator and successful collector of the facts of local history, perhaps no one man ever knew so much of the local history of south-eastern New Hampshire and contiguous parts of Massachusetts and Maine as did Mr. Fitts. It is hoped that the mass of manuscript information he left may be given to the public or preserved for future use. In the course of his researches he took genealogical notes of the Hilton, Wiggin and other historical families of south-eastern New Hampshire, which are esteemed of great value by some of their descendants and kindred.

His first formal work in this line he published in 1869, the "Genealogy of the Fitts or Fitz Family in America," 9r pages. His later and larger efforts have been for the Lane families of his mother's name. He aided Rev. Jacob Chapman materially in the preparation of Vol I, and Mr. Chapman did what he could to aid and encourage Mr. Fitts in compiling the succeeding volumes of Lane Genealogies.

These works were doubtless stimulated and their publication encouraged by the prevalent popularity of genealogical research, but the immediate cause of Vol. I, and so of the rest, was a suggestion by Mr. Fitts toward organization.

The occasion of that suggestion was in the old church yard at Stratham, N. H., where are the graves of Dea. Samuel Lane, the eldest child of Dea. Joshua, of Hampton, and representatives of five generations of his descendants. When Jabez, the youngest son of Dea. Samuel, had set the stones at the graves of his parents, he took his children there and charged them to keep those stones erect as long as they should live. His son Charles told his son, John William, of this, who took it as an injunction to do likewise, and was impelled to search for the older grases of the family at Hampton and perhaps Boston. No clew could be found for the graves of the first William and wives, probably in Boston. But search in Hampton among the bushes of the old "graveyard" revealed a foot-stone inscribed "Dea. Joshua Lane." Proceeding through the bushes the headstone was found erect, but the headstone of his wife, Bathsheba, was broken and lying on the ground. Dea. Dow, the historian of Hampton, was the only one found who could have told where those graves were. John W. took his father, Charles, when past eighty, to see for the first time, the graves of his great grandparents, and they temporarily reset the head stones, both thrown flat on the ground, it was said, by cattle running in the yard. The idea of a more permanent memorial was suggested, but how to interest descendants was a question. After discouraging efforts and considerable correspondence, beginning in 1876, Mr. Fitts was consulted, who wrote, March 16, 1885: "I think the matter of a Lane monument has been talked of in a general way about long enough. Get specifications of monument with inscriptions as a basis of work. A meeting of the family at Hampton, whether a dozen or a hundred attend, will give it something of a business character. You have made an heroic beginning. Go ahead!"

Further search in the old ground had shown some initial head stones near Dea. Joshua's grave. The one next north was imbedded in the grown roots of a pine tree some eighteen inches in diameter, letters inward. The second stone bore the initials, "W. L." In a diary of Dea. Joshua, was found for 6th January, 1745, "My honored and dear mother died," and for 14th February, 1747, "My honored father died at my house, aged above ninety." It was thought if on the broken stone in the pine tree should be found the initials, "S. L.," these graves next his own must be of the parents of Dea. Joshua: William, son of William, of Boston, and Sarah (Webster), his wife. A petition to the selectmen of Hampton resulted in an article in the warrant and a vote of the town, March 10, 1885, permitting the tree to be taken out and a monument erected. The tree was dug out ; the fragments of stone carefully removed and placed together showed the desired "S. L." To this, in part, Mr. Fitts referred as " an heroic beginning." The meeting he suggested was called at the Town Hall, in Hampton, August 18, 1885. Organization was effected and committees were chosen as suggested by Mr. Fitts. Plans were made to raise funds for the monument. Relics of the family were shown, including the broken initial stone, with its "S. L.," the family tree of Dea. Joshua, and an original copy of the "Tear of Lamentation," read at Dea. Joshua's funeral, by his son Jeremiah, once owned by his daughter Abigail. By the generosity of Dr. J. W. White, of Nashua, N. H., it was voted that this address be reprinted and a copy given to every contributor of $$ 1$ or more to the monument fund. The sons of Rev. Jas. P. Lane did the printing, as they did of the address of their father, given September 1, 1886, when Gov. Frederick Smyth was present, by whose generosity this address was also given to contributors of $$ 1$ or more to the monument fund. Thus donations came from Maine to Georgia and California, and one each from England and the Sandwich Islands.

George W. Lane, of Salem, was treasurer of this fund, and reported $$ 479$ received, and $$ 60.22$ allowed by him as interest while collecting-in all, $$ 539.22$. The monument of Quincy granite cost $$ 397.5^{2}$; plan, lettering, labor, posts, markers and foundation, cost $$$ ioi. 70 , leaving $$ 40$ unexpended. It was not ready for dedication, as expected, at the 250 th anniversary of Hampton, to which the Lane meeting came on the invitation of the town. It was hoped there would be $$$ roo for the town of Hampton, whose annual interest should pay for the care of the lot, but it was voted to apply this surplus toward completing and printing the Lane Genealogy, begun by Dea. E. J. Lane, of Dover, N. H., in 1839, and continued by Rev. James P. Lane, till his death January 6, 1889. At the fifth annual meeting for the dedication of the monument, August 14, I889, Mr. Fitts made the principal address. He was chosen with George W. Lane, of Salem, Mass., Dr. E. B. Lane, of Boston, and Rev. John W. Lane as a committee to see to the completion and printing of the genealogy, which committee also became responsible for its cost. Rev. Jacob Chapman, of Exeter, N. H., undertook the work, as is recorded in his Preface to Volume I.

Rev. Mr. Chapman, Mr. Fitts, J. P. and J. W. Lane deliberated long in mutual correspondence on the simplest, most comprehensive and best form for inscriptions on the monument, especially the general one on the south end. All agreed on this, toward which J. P. Lane had the last word:

> To the Memory of A Worthy Ancestry

> By Descendants
> And Kindred ISSS
> The Town of Hampton
> By Vote
> Consenting
> March 10, 1885.

The inscription on the north end gives all the known dates of the first William, viz. :

> William Lane
> In Boston 1650
> Made Freeman, May 6, 1657
> His wife Mary
> Died May 22, 1656 3 children
> His wife Mary Brewer
> Mar. Aug. 21, 1656
> 4 children.

On the east side on the right and over their graves is the inscription to William Lane, of Hampton, and wife, and on the left the inscription to Dea. Joshua Lane and wife.

My first acquaintance with Mr. Fitts was as a fellow student at Merrimack Normal Institute, N. H., in 1850, when neither of us knew that we were of the seventh generation from William Lane, of Boston, r648. This friendship matured on Mr. Fitts' coming, in part by my influence, to my native Newfields, since which we have been in frequent correspondence. It has been a source of satisfaction to aid and encourage Mr. Fitts in his unselfish efforts to introduce our relatives and kindred to each other, but for all I could do I have felt in debt to him. I miss him as a brother beloved. In my gratitude for his life, many whose records are in these volumes will share.

And when we think of the Christian integrity he so fondly traced in our progenitors, I am confident we shall agree that he might have used the language of the Hampton monument and dedicated this book

PREFACE.

THE first two volumes of Lane genealogies brought together accounts of the descendants of nine of the name who reached the New World in colonial times. As Rev. James Pillsbury Lane has remarked, there were over a dozen of them, and it has seemed wise to close this, the third, volume with Rev. Mr. Fitts' account of three more, who were of the same English stock, leaving to some other hands the task of building into further volumes the mass of notes which Mr. Fitts had accumulated regarding other Lanes ; in particular, the families of Sampson Lane, of Portsmouth, N. H., 1646 , and his kinsman, Ambrose; James Lane, of Boston, 1662 ; Nehemiah Lane of Lunenburg, Mass., 1728 ; John Layne, of Lee, N. H., 1760 ; Alexander Lane, of Fishkill-on-theHudson, N. Y., about 1700 ; Matthias Lane, of Bedminster, N. J., 1721 ; Ebenezer Lane, of Western Virginia, 1770 ; Amos Lane, of Lawrenceburgh, Indiana, iso8, father of Gen. James Henry Lane, of Kansas ; James Asa Lane (of Ohio?), 1781 ; and the Lane family of Bristol, Maine, 1836 ; and that of colonial Virginia and North Carolina, connected according to tradition with Sir Ralph Lane, Knight, Governor of Virginia, 1585 , including Elliot T. Lane, of Mercersburg, father of Miss Harriet Lane, of the White House ; James Hardage Lane, grandfather of Gov. Henry Smith Lane, of Indiana, and Joseph Lane, of Halifax, N. C., 1727, father of Col. Joel Lane, the pioneer, and grandfather of Gen. Joseph Lane, Governor of Oregon; as well as additional material relative to families included in Volumes I and II ; that is, those of William Lane, of Boston, Mass., 1648 ; William Lane, of Dorchester, Mass., 1635 ; Robert Lane, of Stratford, Conn., r660; and Cornelius Lane, of Middletown, Conn., 1744, Somerset county, N. J., 175-, and Albany, N. Y.

It is far from safe, in the case of so common a name, to assume that all Lanes are of the same family, or that because one Lane, whose name was inscribed on the roll of Battell Abbey, came over with William the Conqueror, any of the American Lanes wind their way back in continuance to that one, still represented among the gentry of England. It is quite possible, however, that if the name Lane sometimes was a local designation, applied to a man who lived in a lane, e. g.: John at the lane, the existence of the name as a surname already may have aided in the assumption of the shorter form. It is quite likely also that in some cases the Gaelic Maclean has been shortened to Lean. One case of this has fallen under my own observation. The change of spelling from Lean to Lane would then be an easy matter, especially in times when as Mr. Fitts remarks, "in early records the name is variously spelled Lane, Laine, Layne, Lean, and the name with the prefix Mac or Mc has the same variety of form." Rev. James P. Lane mentions the possible derivation of name from the French laine, the word for wool, and suggests that French Huguenots, wool growers or workers, may have assumed the name. The name of Reyner, Job Lane's father-in-law, is certainly French, and there were Huguenot settlers in this part of England, so that Rev. Mr. Lane may be right. But in default of definite documents we have to admit that kinship among Lanes is a matter of conjecture, and that the path of the genealogist is appropriately enough strait and narrow. Yet we have been enabled by wills, with the indispensable help of my friend, J. W. Evans, LL. B., Sc. D., F. G. S., to locate definitely the English home of the Lanes included in this volume (owing to the fact that their family so long retained an interest in property in England,)* as in Rickmansworth, almost a suburb of London. It seems therefore fit that they should have a volume to themselves.

Some have questioned the use of these genealogies and the wisdom of the taste for them which has of late increased so greatly in America. But it has never been thought unworthy the dignity of the historian to trace the genealogies of reigning families, and each of these family genealogies may be considered as a contribution to that of the American sovereign. He who reverences the Bible cannot despise them as useless, for he must own that many of them are preserved therein. Nor can the evolutionist consistently maintain that the more recent boughs of the family tree are less worthy of study than the earlier. Moreover in such books the historian finds many little incidents which are precious as showing what the average man was doing and feeling. It was a bright idea of Rev. Mr. Fitts to cull from his pages such facts and group them together as Annals, and excepting indexes, etc., this is practically the only part of the present volume which he had not completed. It has been prepared from his rough manuscript notes by my brother, Lucius P. Lane.

References in the text or in his manuscript show that Mr. Fitts had examined records and histories and other publications relating to the towns of Bedford, Billerica, Boston, Gloucester, Malden and Salem, Mass., Charlestown, N. H., and Woodstock, Maine, and the Massachusetts counties of Middlesex, Worcester, and Suffolk, as well as the Massachusetts and General Court records and archives, Winthrop's Journal, Sewall's Diary, publications of the Society of Colonial Wars, the genealogical works of Bond, and Farmer and Moore, and the Avery genealogy. From Mr. Fitts' notes he had evidently intended, in addition to previous acknowledgements, to express his thanks for help in preparing this volume to the late William H. Whitmore, Esq., whose "Lane Family Papers" appeared in the New England Historical and Genealogical Register, to Samuel Richards, Esq., of Maine, who contributed " Notes of James Lane," in Old Times, October, 1883, and to Miss Charlotte Augusta Lane, of Gloucester, Mass., Samuel Freeman Lane, Esq., of Pennsylvania, Miss Herreshoff, of Rhode Island, and Miss Alice G. Lane, and Mr. Thos. E. Libby, of Vinalhaven, Maine.

NOTE.

THE long delay in the publication of this volume is in part due to the fact that, while we were working over the preliminary and complementary pages, knowledge was brought to us of the existence in England of additional wills, which furnish information of the Lane ancestry of the families included in this volume, going back three more generations to I 542 . Believing that there is sufficient of interest in them to justify it, I have procured copies, which will be found in their proper places in the Postscript prefixed to Part I. For our knowledge of the existence and location of these wills, all of which were filed in the Archdeacon's Court of St. Albans, and for any information included in the Postscript not gleaned from them, we are indebted to the courtesy of Mrs. Mary W. (Lane) Poor, of Hackensack, N. J., for whom these items were procured by the researches of a professional genealogist of London, whom she independently employed.

Both Mrs. Fitts and I have received requests for the insertion of additional information as to some of the families included in the volume. Since pages 1 -391 were all printed, in sufficient number for the edition, before Mr. Fitts' death, the only way in which such items could be added would be to put them on separate pages at one end of the volume, as "Addenda." As this is not a very satisfactory method, and moreover, to set a limit to the date up to which additions would be received would be perplexing, it has been decided not to attempt at all to bring the information to a later date than that reached at the time of Mr. Fitts' death. In lieu thereof some blank leaves of writing paper will be bound in at the end, and upon these may be completed and kept the particular family record of each possessor of a copy of the volume.

The Place of the Yeoman in English Society in the Sixteenth Century.

THESE wills show that our ancestors were yeomen. As an explanation of the term as used in the England of that time, the following quotation from the treatise of Sir Thomas Smith, 1513-1577, De Republica Anglorum, first published at London in 1583, afterwards re-published under the title: The Common Wealth of England, is contemporary evidence, clear and conclusive. Sidney Lee's Dictionary of National Biography says of Smith's work: "It is the most important description of the constitution and government of England written in the Tudor age." I quote from the edition of 1584, pages 29-32:

of YEOMEN.

CHAP. 23.
Those whom we call yeomen next unto the nobilitie, Knights and Squires, haue the greatest charge and doings in the common wealth, or rather are more trauailed to serue in it than all the rest: as shall appeare hereafter. I call him a yeoman whom our Lawes doe call Legalem hominem, a worde familiar in writtes and enquestes, which is a freeman borne English, and may dispend of his owne free lande in yerely reuenue to the summe of xl. s. sterling This sort of people confesse themselues to be no gentlemen, but giue the honour to al which be or take upon them to be gentlemen, and yet they have a certaine preheminence and more estimation than laborers and artificers, and commonly liue wealthily, keepe good houses, & do their businesse, & trauaile to acquire riches: these be (for the most part) fermors unto gentlemen, which with grasing, frequenting of markettes, and keeping seruaunts not idle as the gentleman doth, but such as get both their owne liuing and parte of their maisters: by these meanes do come to such wealth, that they are able and daily doe buy the landes of unthriftie gentlemen, and after setting their sonnes to the schoole at the Uniuersities, to the lawe of the Realm, or otherwise leauing them sufficient landes whereon they may liue without labour, doe make their saide sonnes by these meanes gentlemen. These be not called masters, for that (as I saide) pertaineth to gentlemen onely: But to their surnames, men adde goodman . . . I meane not in matters of importance or in lawe. But in matters of Lawe and for distinction, if one were a knight they would write him (for example sake) Sir Iohn Finch Knight, so if he be an Esquier, Iohn Finch, Esquier or Gentleman, if he be no Gentleman, Iohn Finch yeoman. . . . So amongest the husbandmen labourers, lowest and rascall sort of the people such as be exempted out of the number of the rascabilitie of the popular be called and written yeomen, as in the degree next unto gentlemen. These are they which olde Catu calleth Aratores and oftimos cives in Republica: and such as of whom the writers of common wealths praise to have manie in it.
When they are foorth they fight for their Lordes of whom they hold their landes, for their wiues and children, for their countrey and nation, for praise and honour, against they come home . . . These are they which in the old world gat that honour to Englande, not that either for witte, conduction, or for power they are or were ever to be compared to the gentlemen, but because they be so manie in number, so ohedient at the Lordes call, so strong of bodie, so harde to cndure paine, so couragious to aduenture with their Lorde or Captaine going with, or before them, for else they be not hastie nor neuer were as making no profession of knowledge of warre. These were the good archers in times past, and the stable troupe of footemen that affraide all France, that would rather die all, than once abandon the knight or gentleman their captaine, who at those daies commonly was their Lorde, and whose tenauntes they were . . . And this they haue amongest them from their forefathers tolde one to an other. The gentlemen of Fraunce and the yeomen of England are renowned, because in battle of horsemen Fraunce was many times too good for us, as we againe alway for them on foote. And Gentlemen for the most part be men at armes and horsemen, and yeomen commonlie on foote: howsoeuer it was, yet the gentlemen had alwaies the conduction of the yeomen . . . and the Kinges of Englande in foughten battles remaining alwaies among the footemen, as the Frenche Kings among their horsemen. Eche Prince therby as a man may gesse, did shew where he thought his strength did consist.

Lane Family in Rickmansworth, England, AND VICINITY.

The frontispiece is a picture of the old 1 ane farm house at Shepherds, Mill-End, Rickmansworth, Hertfordhhire, England. It was the home of English Lanes for at least a hundred years, including John Lane (1620-1706?), own cousin and correspondent of Job Lane, who came to America about 1635 according to the family tradition. From the style of construction the house seems to have been built about the last of the 16 th or early in the 17 th century, and I think it is saie to assume that it is the identical building which was occupied by the English John Lane above mentioned, as we know that he was "of Shepherds" and that the house was occupied by his descendants some generations later. The house passed out of the possussion of people of the Lane name, by reason of there being no male descendants, about the middle of the last century, and out of the possession of any of the Lane blood, early in the present century, about 1820 , as near as I can find out. The house is no longer used as the residence of the occupier of the farm, but as the bailiff's house, the bailiff being a sort of overseer or foreman.- $L$. P. Lalle.

I.

JAMES LANE, SENIor, yeoman, perhaps of Rickmansworth in the county of Hertford, England, was the father of Job, James and Edward Lane, of Malden, Mass., about 1650 . (Was the name of his wife Katherine? "Will of Rich Russel of the county of Hereford, the elder, gent., i6 Aug. 1627, proved io June 1628: To Mr. James Lane and wife Katherine Lane, etc.") Mr. Lane had four sons and died possessed of landed estate before 1654 .

Johv, the eldest son, remained in England. He received joint inheritance with his brother James, in the parental estates prior to 1654, and perhaps was the kinsman and executor mentioned in John Lane's will of 166 I . Other sons of James Lane, Senior, were Job, James and Edward who all settled in the vicinity of Boston, Mass. A letter from Jeremiah Gould, dated at London, 6 June 1654, and directed to his "Kind Friend Job Lane" in Mass., shows that James Lane, Senior, and wife had surrendered an estate to their sons James and John and their heirs. The father and mother died in debt, "a good sum," and the son James paid it.

James Lane, Senior, had five brothers of whom we have some knowledge.

II.

HENRY LANE a brother of James Lane, Senior, and probably died without issue. The letter of Jeremiah Gould to Job Lane, 1654, says: "Your uncle Henry Lane is dead; there is i9 acres of poor land fallen unto his heir, and there is a scruple made whether you be he or no, because you have an elder brother and not known to be dead."-N. E. Gen. Ref., 47: 397.

III.

JOHN LANE was a brother of James Lane, Senior, and was mentioned in their brother Jeremie's will, 1646 . Jeremiah Gould writes to Job Lane, in 1653 or ' 4 : "I made a journey unto your uncle John Lane within this 8 days and must meet him on Saturday at Rickmansworth." The will of John Lane of Rickmansworth in the county of Hertford is dated 7 Aug., 166 r , and gives much family history. The will provides for "Herriotte" payable at his death to the lord of the manor of Rickmansworth. It bequeaths "to Rebecca Baker my daughter ffiue pounds of good and lawfull money of England." It leaves legacies to ten other persons in sums varying from ten to thirty pounds. It gives "to the poore people of Rickmansworth ffity shillings to be distributed amongst them where most need is ;" also "Three Hundred of Spray ffagotts To the poore people of Millend to be delivered to them thensueing Winter and continually for one and Twenty years." The residuary legatee and executor of the will was "my kinsman John Lane."

He seems without male issue. His daughter Rebecca m. Baker.

IV.

SYMON LANE, a brother of James Lane, Senior, died prior to the signing of John Lane's will, r66r. His son Thomas Lane received by John Lane's will fifteen pounds, to go in case of his decease to his wife, and if she die to his children. Was this the Thomas Lane who was warned by the selectmen of Dorchester, Mass., in 1635 , to remove to Watertown ?

$\mathbf{V}$.

GEORGE LANE, a brother of James Lane, Senior, was living in 1654 . He was mentioned in a letter from John Lane to his cousin Job Lane, 3 Mar., 1678 , as having conveyed estate to his brother John I ane whose daughter Rebecca Baker surrendered it to the lord of the manor of Rickmansworth.

George Lane probably had son Richard Lane, who m. first, -_ Joyce; second, 1664, Hester Williamson and died 1704; his children: 1. George, died 1656. 2. Mary, and 3, Rebeckah. These daughters had copy-holds at Mill End, Rickmansworth, which went to John Lane; and both died before 1678 .

VI.

JEROME, JEREMIE OR JEREMIAH LANE', a brother of James Lane, Senior, from Penn in Buckinghámshire, bought land in Rickmansworth, 1624 , lived at West End, and had wife Martha, executrix of his will, 1647.

Will of jeremiah lane.

PART II.

Job Lane of Malden and Billerica, Mass.,

AND DESCENDANTS.

JOB LANE ${ }^{1}$ (James), $1620-1697$, was born in England about 1620, and owned lands in Rickmansworth, Hertfordshire, about eighteen miles from London. His uncle - Boyse by marriage, fell April, 1643 , in the sea-croft or club-fight between the King's forces and the Parliamentary army under Lord Fairfax. The tradition that Job Lane came to America in 1635 , when only 15 yrs. old, is not authenticated.

Job Lane was distinguished as "master-carpenter," "housewright," "artificer" and "bridge-builder." He first appears at Sekonk, Mass., in 1643, where he was estimated worth fifty pounds for the purpose of receiving subsequent grants of land, and where he joined the Sekonk Combination, $3^{d} 5 \mathrm{mo}$. 644 . He was at Rehoboth, Mass., $9^{\text {th }} 4$ mo. 1645 , and drew lot No. 28. He was of Dorchester, Mass., and returned to England and was married there in 1647.
"A full manifestation of Thomas Howell's desire on his death bed," June 6,1647 , his property to be divided between his wife and children, names "Job Lane his kinsman now in England" executor. "The coppie of Job Lane's refusall to accept of the executorship of Thomas Howell's last will and testamt directed to the govrnor, Oct. 19, 1647," shows him to be a carpenter of Dorchester, Mass. Thomas Howell was of Marshfield. Inventory, May 3 1, 1648 ; amount $£ 38,2$ s.

Job Lane settled in Malden, Mass., near the time of its incorporation, May 2, 1649. "In answer to the petition of seull inhabitants of Mistick Side, their request is granted viz. to be a district town of themselves, and the name thereoff to be Maulden."-Gen. Court Record.

A curious entry in the Mass. Bay Colony Records has reference to a Negro servant Eneroe who, having been set free by his former master Clement, had bound himself to Mr. Lane, May 28, 165 I , for nine years. Again May 18 , 1653 , "In ans ${ }^{r}$ to the petition of Job Lane in behalf of Ebedmeleck his servant for the remittment of the rigor of the lawe $\mathbb{\&} c$. the Court judgeth it mete that the sayd Ebedmeleck, for his stealing vitualls and breaking open a window on the Lord's day, shall the next lecture day be whipt five stripes."—Mass. Records, 3: 306 and f: 137.

A fragmentary correspondence between lob Lane and the custodians of the English estates is among the interesting papers treasured in the family at Bedford, Mass. Letters from Jeremiah (iould, dated at London in 1653 and 1654 , to his "Loving Friend Job Lane," contain much family history. He writes June 6, 1654 , "You wonder that your Brother James should delude me to make away your estate, and withal wished me not to surrender the premises to him . . . . Your uncle assured me that the annuity belonged not to you but to your brother Edward if he were alive, etc." Among Job Lane's other correspondents in England were Mr. Smith of Gildersome, Yorkshire, to whom he wrote Aug. i3, 1670; John Harwood, his attorney, from whom he received letters dated Feb. i8, 1665, Mar. 14, $167 \mathrm{I}-2$, Feb. 6, 1677, and May 6, 1677 ; Marmaduke Reyner, his wife's uncle, who wrote May 17 , 1676 ; John Dickenson of Gildersome, his friend and agent, to whom he wrote Aug. 13, 1670, Oct. 23, 1678, June 19, 1695, and from whom he received letters dated Mar. 6, 1670, Feb. 20, 1673, Apr. 29, 1675, Feb. 6, 1677, Oct. 23, 1678, Apr. i, 1679, Apr. 16, 1695 and Nor. 3, 1696. He received a letter from his cousin John Lane, dated Mar. 3, 1678, questioning "whether the heathen have yet been subdued or not," who also adds, "I have been several times with the lord of the manor to search the court rolls, . . . and he told me that he cannot find the surrender that my uncle George Lane made to my uncle John Lane . . . . You desire to know how my cousin Baker has disposed of the estate, and I so understand she did surrender it into the hands of the Lord of the manor, and then did take it up for her own life to one Matthew Baker kinsman of William Baker, and I think the land is past recovery." John Dickenson, Jr., wrote him in 1677 , respecting "Nonconformity in England," and affirmed May, 1679, that "the Gospel is promulgated."-Lane Family Papers, by William H. Whitmore, Gen. Reg., XI and XVII.

Records show that Job Lane's "forfieture was abated and fine remitted," May 23 and Nov. 13, 1655 ; he was made freeman May 14, 1656; bought land in Malden of Nicholas Parker Sept. 22, 1656 ; was attorney to collect five pounds for William Wilkins of Chesham, Buck's county, England, Apr. 6, 1658 ; was mentioned in the inventory of George Mumings, 17 th 7 mo., 1658 . He contracted with the selectmen of Malden, Nov. ir, i658, "to erect and finish upp a good strong Artificial meeting house, to be completed before 20 Sept. next ensuing."

Contract for the erection of the first Meeting house in Malden.
"Articles of agreement made and concluded ye IIth day of ye ninth mo. 1658 betweene Job Lane of Malden on the one partie, carpenter, and William Brakenbury, Lieut. John Wayte, Ensigne J. -Hist. of Malden.

In 1682 the parish of Malden voted "that the meeting house be repaired to keep out the weather and to save the sills from rotting." It was in possession of a church bell at this time which was placed upon Bell Rock, an elevated ledge near which the meeting house stood and which still bears the old name.

Job Lane purchased five acres of land in Malden from Michael Smith, the last day of the irth mo. 1659, contracted to build a bridge over Concord river to be completed before the close of the year 1659, "with abutments at each end suitable for the passing over with carts," and engaged to raise the frame of a house for Thomas Robinson of Scituate, Aug. 25, 1660.

He was appointed attorney for his brother James Lane of Malden, turner, Nov. 19, 1660. He received from his uncle John Lane's will, Aug. 7, 1661, thirty pounds: "and if my kinsman Job dye before his Lagacie shall become due, Then the Thirty pounds Legacie shall be paid to his wife ; if shee dye, then to his children."

Petition, 7 th $4^{\text {th }}$ mo., 1662 , signed Job Lane among nine inhabitants of Malden for the rest: "Our most humble Petic'on to this much honoured Court is; That a Tract of lands of About fower Miles Square at A place Called Pennycooke may be Granted As A Addic'on to us, for our better Support And Incouragement in the Service of Christ \& the Countrie.

The Deputyes thinke not meete to grant this pet.

> William Torrey, Cleric."
> -Mass. Archives, $112: 147$.

Job Lane had paid the remainder of a bill to Christian Hooper, Jan. 15, 1662-3, and with Theodore Atkinson, forger, he agreed to build a draw-bridge, Mar. 6, 1662-3.

Job Lane removed, about 1664 , from Malden to the Indian Shawshine, a part of ancient Cambridge till incorporated Billerica, May 29, 1655, and Bedford since Sept. 23, 1729. Here his descendants became among the most numerous and influential families of Billerica and Bedford, Mass.

The Massachusetts Bay Company, under John Winthrop, governor, and Thomas Dudley, deputy governor, left England in April, 1629, landed at Salem in June, 1629, removed to Charlestown in July, 1629, and settled in Boston, Sept..17, 1630, and in Newtowne 1631. Gov. Winthrop returned to Boston and reproved his deputy in 1632 , "that he did not well to bestow so much cost about wainscotting and adorning his house in the beginning of a plantation, both in regard of the public charges and for example." The removal of the governor's extremely rude frame house from Newtowne to Boston was the cause of a misunderstanding between the governor and the deputy, but matters were accommodated to the content of both parties, Sept. 4, 1632. The Colonial General Court, Nov. 2, 1637, granted Winthrop and Dudley one thousand acres of land each, as a gratuity for valuable services in laying the foundation of the Colony.

We have Gov. Winthrop's graphic account of the location of these outlying farms. The two eminent men came together from Boston by way of Concord to Shawshine and fixed on the right bank of Concord river their respective claims.

January, $1637-8$. "Going down the river about four miles, they made choice of a place for one thousand acres for each of them. They offered each other the first choice, but because the deputy's was firm granted and himself had store of land already the governor yielded him the choice. So at the place where the deputy's land was to begin, there were two great stones which they called the Two Brothers, in remembrance that they were brothers by their children's marriage and did so brotherly agree, and for that a little creek near those stones was to part their lands."—Winthrop's Fournal, Apr. 2_, 1638.

The General Court enlarged the grant to the governor by an additional two hundred acres, May 2, 1638 , and still later, June 6, 1639 , added sixty acres at the "great meadows."

May 2, 163S. "It was ordered by the prsent Court that John Winthrop Esqr. the prsent governor shall have 1200 acres of land whereof 1000 acres was formerly graunted him; & Thomas Dudley Esqr. the Deputy governor has 1000 acres granted him by a former court, both of them about 6 miles from Concord northwards; the said governor to have his 1200 acres on the southerly side of two great stones standing neare together close by the ryvers side that comes from Concord."

Mr. Dudley's farm was also increased to fifteen hundred acres and was sold by him, Feb. 28, $165 \mathrm{r}-2$, for $£ \mathrm{Iro}$.

Gor. John Winthrop ${ }^{1}$ of Mass. died Mar. 26, i649, at 63 years. His son John Winthrop, Jr. ${ }^{2}$, settled first at Ipswich, Mass., in 1633 , but was made governor of Saybrook plantation, Conn., in 1635. He founded New London in 1645 and became governor of Conn. in 1657. His son Fitz John Winthrop ${ }^{3}$ sold the entire Winthrop grant to Job Lane, Aug. 2, 1664, for 230 pounds current money in New England. Mr. Lane paid for the estate by building Mr. Winthrop a mansion house and barn at New London. He was put in possession of it by John Parker, Aug. 8, 1664, and took receipt for payment July 4, 1665 . The deed written on vellum, with Fitz John Winthrop's unique seal upon it, is still preserved in the possession of Job Lane's descendants.

The "Two Brothers" or "Brother Rocks" are composed of rough granite each about io feet in diameter and standing about 60 feet apart on the meridian. The north side of the south rock is marked "Winthrop 1638 ." The south side of the north rock is marked "Dudley 1638 ." The Bedford Historical Society marked these enduring landmarks in 1893 , the expense being borne by Dudley L. Pickman, the present owner. Old oaks cut from the grove where the Two Brothers are situated were put into the bridge between Boston and Charlestown which Washington crossed and praised in 1789.

Fitz J. Winthrop.
There is no evidence that the Winthrop Farm was occupied till bought by Job Lane. He owned a saw mill on the farm and built a dwelling house on the eastern side of it. An ancient Lane house now standing and occupied as a family residence is situated on the rising point of land on the right hand side of the road about a mile and a half north from the junction of the main street of Bedford with the roads to Concord and Billerica. The Winthrop Purchase was estimated to contain 1260 acres and continued intact until the death of Mr. Lane in 1697, when it was divided among his heirs. In 1707 it was surveyed for the first time and found to contain 1500 acres.

Job Lane took a receipt from Thomas Butterfield, roth 5 mo ., 1665. He bought from Joseph Rock, Feb. 29, 1666, the Thomas Coytmore mill in Malden and all the privileges attending it. This "corne-mill" was built as early as 1640 . The dam flowed Spy Pond. The mill stood below at tide narigation to which the water was brought in canals or sluices.

Mr. Lane received as apprentice John Quinne from county of Cork, Ireland, who personally bound himself in June, i666. He took as apprentice, June 5,1667 , Thomas Austin, who was transferred to him for seven years from his arrival in the ship Desire, May 9, 1667 , by Capt. Rowland Bevans, to whom Austin's widowed mother had bound him Feb. 26, 1667.

[Sealed with a Pine tree shilling.]
Mr. Lane, "an able and honest artificer," contracted, Jan. in, 1667-8, to build Great Bridge over Billerica river, the work to be completed before Sept. 29 following, and he to receive "seren score and five pounds starling; ten in cash, ten in wheat, ten in malt and the remainder in corne and cattle."

Job Lane, for the sum of 155 pounds and other considerations for which he received a receipt in full June 6, 1668, bought of Jachin Reyner of Rowley New England, co-partner with his sister Anna Keyner wife of Job Laine, one-fourth part of housing and lands to which said Reyner was heir in his mother's right, situated in the townships of Edgeton and Welburne, Yorkshire, Eng., and occupied by Thomas Boyse. The Kev. John Reyner of lover, N. H., as tenant for life, had convered one-half of the rents of this estate to his son Jachin Reynor, Aug. 7, i660, and one-half to his son-in-law Job Laine, Aug. 5, 166z. Mr. Iane was charged by John Harwood with expenses in looking after the estates in England, June 24, 1673. His proposition, 1674, to the town of Billerica, "to abate him annually part of his dues to Mr. Whiting was propounded to the town, but not accepterl." He was indebted to the estate of Joseph Hills of Malden, Oct. 5, 1674.
'The Winthrop-Lane Farm lying remote from the settlements at Concord and Billerica was exposed to attack by the Indians during King Philip's War, 1675. "Job Lane is impressed," but was doubtless allowed to protect his own house.-Billerica Records. The Sth 8 mo., 1675 , he was allowed to stockade his dwelling and be freed from fortifying other appointed garrisons, and empowered to keep a "watch" and examine persons as other watches may do. The $14^{\text {th }} 8 \mathrm{mo},$.1675 , also Job Laine was authorized "to fortify his owne house and to have two soldiers for garrison-men to defend his house in case ye country could spare them."

Certificate of sale: "This may certify to all persons that I, Mary l,ynden of Boston, do sell all my right in a boy called Torrey to Job Lane, given to me according to a County Court record, 1676 .

> Mary Linden."

Torrey became a family name for the colored race in the Lane possession.

Mr. Lane was deputy for Pillerica to the General Court Aug. 9, 1676, and in 1679 ; was selectman $1676,{ }^{\prime} 7,{ }^{\prime} 9-18 \mathrm{r}$; was classed among the ten families under George Farley, tithingman, 8th 8 mo.,

1677, whose duty it was "to examine the several families and see whether their children and servants were taught in the principles of religion ;" took oath of fidelity to the state, 4 th 12 mo., 1677 ; sold to W. Green Apr. 2, 1678 , English estate received from Jachin Rayner, June 6, 1668 ; had family friends in the Parliament party, England, Sept. 26, i678.

John Harvard devised half of his estate and his library of 300 volumes in 1638 , as the foundation of Harvard College and the name Newtowne was changed to Cambridge in honor of the old English university town. It is related that when Charles Chauncy, president of Harvard college from Nov. 27, 1654, to Feb. 19, 1671-2, had sacrificed his own and his family's pecuniary prospects by his devotion to the college interests, he had an estate with $£ 60$ income given him by a Mr. Lane, probably a relation of Bristol, England. It is said that Job Lane erected one of the wooden college buildings. Old Harvard Hall was rebuilt of brick in 1672 by the contributions of the Colony at an expense of $£ \mathrm{ir} 8 \mathrm{o}$. When the town of Billerica had paid a part of their subscription and wished to excuse their delay in forwarding the remainder, the selectmen appointed Mr. Lane, the 14 th 8 mo., 1678 , "to returne an answr to $y^{e}$ Hon ${ }^{\text {d }}$ generall Court vpon $y^{e}$ I 8 th day of this instant, in reference to our contribution to $y^{e}$ Colledge." He also "received 90 pounds for the colledg" Mar. 30, 1683.-Mass. Records, 5: 393.

Mr. Lane was taxed in Billerica, i679, for two polls and assessed $£ 2$, i3s, more than any other man. He was notified by John Dickenson Apr. r, r679, that rents in England had been received for six years, 1673 to 1678 . In 1680, he was one of the appraisers of the goods of his brother James Lane, deceased, of Casco Bay.

Job Lane's son John married in 1682, when Mr. Lane appears to have returned to his estate in Malden. Here he was selectman, 1683, '6, '7; took Robert Stuke apprentice for three years, July i, 1685 ; was deputy from Malden, 1685 and '92. The pay of the representative to the Legislature in those days was derived from the town. Malden, May 19, 1686, "paid to Mr. Laine for debutys charges for the year ' $85, £ \mathrm{r}, \mathrm{r} 4 \mathrm{~s}, 7 \mathrm{~d} ;$ '" and at another time the same year for like service, $£^{2}, 5 \mathrm{~s}, 6 \mathrm{~d}$. He was apportioned by lot land in the commons of Malden, May, 1695 ; and bought real estate of J. Green, Aug. 7, 1695. He also bought out this year, some interest of Mrs. Martha, widow of John Coggan, in the mill built by her first husband Thomas Coytemore, brother-in-law of Gov. John Winthrop, which he bequeathed to his daughter Dorothy and her husband Edward Sprague.

Letters from England for Mr. Job Lane of Malden were to be left, Feb. 9, $1694-5$ "at Mrs. Mary Ardells at her house in the Town Dock over against Mr. Thomas Clark, brazier, Boston." At this date William Ardell had a sister in England, viz. Mrs. Frances Thompson. He was a merchant in Boston, $168_{4}$, and sheriff of the Province of N. H., 1698.

Job Lane was a man of marked intelligence, great business capacity and commanding influence in church and colony. Late in life he became infirm through age and paralysis, so that important papers were signed by his initials only, J. L. His amanuensis was Rev. Jabez Fox of Woburn, who married Judith Reyner, half sister of Mrs. Lane. John Dickenson declined Apr. 7, 1695 , to pay a draft presented by Mrs. Frances Thompson because the writing was different from Mr. Lane's usual hand. When Dickenson wrote about the matter, Apr. 16, 1695, Mr. Lane replied June 19, 1695 :
"By reason of my weakness and other infirmity of old age attending me for the space of these six years past, I have wholly been incapacitated to do anything for you about that business which is above a hundred miles from me. . . . . By reason that I am lame in my right hand and have almost lost the use thereof, you may only expect my mark to my letters and bills for the future.

The mark of Job J. L. Lanee.
Seal : a hand between three crescents."
Mr. Job Lane died at Malden, 23 Aug., 1697 , aged 77 years. -Tombstone.

The estates of Job Lane in Malden and Billerica have continued largely with his descendants through the successive generations.

Moreover, from near the dates 1662 to 1816 inclusive, or above one hundred and fitty years, the Job Lane family received a yearly rental from the English estates-an instance wholly unparalleled in New England history.

Job Lane's first wife SARAH BOYCE, whom he married in England, 1647, died at Malden, Mass., 14 th-19th 3 mo., 1659 . Malden Record. He married again, 2d 7 mo., 1660 , ANNA or HANNAH REYNER, she b. about 1632, daughter of Rev. John and - (Boyse) Reyner. The Rev. John Reyner was a native of Gildersome, Yorkshire, Eng., and pastor at Plymouth, Mass., 1635 to 1654 , and at Dover, N. H., 1655 , to his death, 20 Apr., 1669. At Plymouth he was regarded as an able and godly man, of a meek and humble spirit, sound in the truth and every way unreprovable in his life and conversation. At Dover he was held in great esteem by his parishioners. A sister Alice m. first, - Southworth; second, became 2 d wife of Gov. Wm. Bradford. A son John became his father's colleague and successor in the pastorate at Dover. A daughter Elizabeth m. her cousin Capt. Thomas Southworth of Plymouth, Mass.

A letter addressed by Humphrey Rayner to his niece Hannah Rayner, March I, 165 I , refers to herself and brother Jachin Rayner: "I desire that you and he may now in your youth call upon one another as your father doth call upon you both, to know the Lord God of your fathers as you have good means and helps so to do, and it will be for your own comfort as well as ours especially when Death comes or age if you live unto it. Our hopes and prayers shall be unto God for the same."

Mrs. Hannah (Reyner) Lane was born in England, 1632, and died at Malden, 30 Ap., 1704, aged 72 years.-Tombstone.

Major JOHN LANE ${ }^{2}$ (Job ${ }^{1}$ ), $1661-1715$, born Malden, Mass., May, 166 r , was a leading citizen of Billerica, Mass., where he was rated Aug. 24, 1688, "i p'son & estate, 13s. 2d." the highest tax on the list. He was made freeman April 18, 1690 ; selectman 1693,'6-1704,'9, eleven years; committee to seat the meeting house, 1694 , and the same year a highway was laid out from the "Concord Road" to his place ; inherited by his father's will Sept. 28, 1696, "all the lands I have in England in Yorkshire, also one-half of my estate in Billerica," 750 acres of the Winthrop Purchase; received a letter from John Whipple his father-in-law to which his wife's mother, E. Whipple, added a postscript ; wrote to his "loving kinsman," probably John Dickenson, England, Mar. 23, 1697-8, that his father had died 23 Aug., previous, and that the bills in favor of Mrs. Frances Thompson were right.

John Lane and four other residents of Billerica petitioned the Mass. General Court, Nor. 17, i698, to preserve intact their former grant of about sixty years since, against encroachments of Concord and Chelmsford. He was representative, and with others purchased real estate of S. Manning in 1 7O2; with others who had purchased lands in Billerica but were not original proprietors, he appealed to the General Court, May 30, 1705, for a part in the division of common lands. General Court, Nov. i6, 1705, ordered: "That Capt. John Lane [and others] be entitled to have a proportionable share with other commoners, Proprietors and Inhabitants of $\mathrm{s}^{\mathrm{d}}$ Town in all future divisions of undivided and waste lands." Joseph D—_, wrote him from Gildersome, England, Mar. i4, 1708 , that one Sampson, an attorney, had claimed the tithes on J. Lane's estate ; he sold real estate to E. Sprague, June 4, 1708, and the same year was allotted 127 acres of land ; with others he sold land to S. Manning, July 7,1710 .

Mr. I ane was an officer in the militia and very active in the Indian alarms before and after i 7 oo , respecting which many papers have been preserved. In the history of these Indian wars, his name comes into view as the leading military man in town. He was Lieutenant in command of the Billerica troop in King Williams war, 1693. Order addressed by Thomas Hinchman, Sergeant Major, to Lieutenant John Lane of Billerica Aug. 23, 1693 : "To Left. In $\mathrm{n}^{\circ}$ Lane of Billerica. By virtue of an order from the honorbl $L^{t}$ Govern ${ }^{r}$ bearing date 22 Aug., 1693 , these are in his Majisty's name to require you forthwith to Impress eight troopers out of yor troop undr yor Command, well appointed with arms and ammunition for his Majistys service, four of which are to be daily Imployed as a Scout about yor Town, especially towards the great swamp; the other foure you are also to send to me upon moon-day morning Next: You are also to send to me the names of all the soldrs imprest who are to enter into sarvice on said moonday. Wreof you may not fail. Given undr my hand this 22 August, 1693.

Tho Hischmas, Sur. major."
-Lane Papers.
Billerica sustained a second Indian masacre Aug. 5, 1695, when fifteen persons were killed or captured. "The family of John Levistone suffered most severely. His mother-in-law, and five young children were killed and his eldest daughter captured."Farmer and Moore.

Lieut. Lane received this order from Maj. Jonathan Tyng of Dunstable.

> "I)ustable, August I4, i696.

Capt. Lane.
Indian Enemy above Pick Pocket Mills at Exeter bending their course Westward. From Andover also I have advise, also of two men being murdered and scalped by the Indian Enemy. You are required to order ye one half of your Troops to be in a readiness always and at a minutes warning if possible with three days provision, so to go & give &c."

Again February 12, 1696-7: "Having advice from the Lt. Governor that at the Spring near approaching it may be expected that the enemy will make fresh attacks both by sea and land, I do therefore order that you make inquiry into the state of ye troopers under your command, and see that every one of them be mounted on a good serviceable horse for war, and furnished with a good, well-fitted carbine besides pistolls, and to see that the whole troop be in Readiness to pass upon duty : and in case of alarum upon * * * Discovering the approach of the enemy by sea, you are hereby ordered with the several Troopers under your command forthwith to repair to the post or place within your county where the Alarum is first given, there to receive and attend to further orders, etc."

Jonathan Tyng, majr." -Lane Papers.

Lt. John Lane had acted on a committee to build a bridge over Concord river and received compensation for his service from the Court of Sessions, Mar. 20, 1699. He was commissioned Captain of the Billerica Troops by Richard Earl of Bellomont, Oct. 4, I699.

Queen Anne's War is seen approaching in the order from Maj. Tyng to Capt. John Lane, Apr. 22, 1702, requiring him "forthwith to take effectual care that there be strict execution of the Act for regulating of ye Malitia & especially to inspect the forces and men duly provided with arms and ammunition."

Order from Major Tyng to Capt. Lane, June 23, 1702 . His command to be "under necessary precaution against Indian surprise, and to send me with all possible speed a true list of the names of your officers and private soldiers in the Troop under your command. I also pray that your self & your Comsion officers give me a meeting at Concord to meet the next day after Concord Court meet by adjournment." -Lane Papers.

Gor. Joseph Dudley in the following letter, evidently knows personally and puts great confidence in Capt. John Lane, who is acting as a regimental officer.
"Cambridie, 5, Nov., i 702.
SIR :
I desire you with two of your troops to repayr to the towns of Marlboro', Lancaster, Groten, Chelmsford and Dunstable, and there deliver severally the letters given you, and encourage the officers in their duty, agreeable to the several Directions. You are also to labor by all means, to speak with Wotanummon and the Penacooke men, and to assure them of the friendship with the Gouernor and all the English; but that we are fearful the french Indians will be amongst them soon and do mischief to the English, and that therefore we must have our scouts out, and if they will come and reside in any proper place near the English, they shall be welcome ; if their hunting will not allow that, they must keep a good Distance from the English towns, and send one man only to Colonel Tyng when they would speak with me, and they shall be welcome at all times, and I will never depart from my friendship to them if they will continue friends. Let the officers in the several towns use all prudence not to make the first breach, and let me hear from them on every ocation."-Lane Papers.

Another Order from Col. Jonathan Tyng to Capt. John Lane, Sept. 3, 1703.
"These are to order you forthwith to give out your warrant to your soldiers in Chelmsford to watch, Two in a night and the day following, at the wading place at Wamesit ; and to continue in that service till they have gone Round. The soldiers are to keep at the said wading place till they are relieved, as the custom hath been by Capt. Bower's men."-Lane Papers.

Capt Lane's command with twelve Billerica soldiers went to the defense of Lancaster when attacked, July 3i, i704. He has preserved some names for us: Samuel Hill coporal, John Needham clerk, Ralph Hill, John Farmer, Samuel Hunt, Andrew Richardson, Thomas Ross, Stephen Richardson. Others were sent Aug. 4, 1704, with two days' provisions to reinforce Major 'Taylor. He led twenty soldiers to Groton, Dunstable and Dracut, Aug. II to 13,1704 . He led twenty-nine troopers, two days with sustenance, to relieve Dunstable, July 4, 1706. "A list of the names of the troopers which served under my Command to the relief of Dunstable July the fourth seventeen hundred and six, Being 29 men two days with 'their subsistence." [Six of the twenty-nine men were from the Bedford side of ancient Billerica. Viz.: Samuel Fitch, Josiah Bacon, Nathaniel Page, Nathaniel Bacon, Benjamin Bacon, Josiah Fassett.] "Anno 1708. Muster Roll of the Company in Her Majesties service under the command of John Lane Captain, viz. of a troop subsisting 36 and 19 men. These nineteen last named were sent out by Order from his Excelency, August ye fourth 1704 with ten days provision, and marched to Lancaster to in force Major Taylor &c." Among the fifteen scouts that "went the rouns with Mager Lane" in 1706, were his sons Job Lane and John Lane.

Twenty-six Billerica soldiers each gave the following receipt:
"Bilracy, September 18, 1708. Reseved of Capt. John Lane the sum of eight pounds, three shillings and six pence; i say reseved by me for the solgers that bilary unto Chelmsford and Groton. James Dutton and others."
Capt. John Lane received his commission as Major in the West Regiment of Horse and Foot from Gov. Joseph Dudley June 23, r71. He is also said to have been Colonel of Massachusetts Militia and died in military service.-Society of Colonial Wars.

Major John Lane m. 20 Mar., $168 \mathrm{I}-2$, at Salem, Mass., before Bartholemew Gidney, Esq., SUSANNA WHIPPLE, dau. of Capt. John Whipple and his first wife Martha, dau. of Humphrey and Mary Reynor of Ipswich, Mass. Major and Mrs. Lane were second cousins. She d. 4 Aug., 1713 , æ. about 5 I years. He d. 17 Jan., 1714-15.

Mr. Lane had received the annual income of the English estates in goods to his order from John Dickenson through John Love and Metcalf, merchants in London, shipped to Henry Dearing a trading house in Boston. The English law of primogeniture was not transferred to America. New England adopted the older commonlaw and all the children shared alike, except that the elder son had a double portion. The heirs settled the estate among themselves, Mar. 26, 1718, and the division was approved, July 2, 1718 .
"To Job Lane the homestead that was his father's, 166 acres &c.
To John Lane izo acres &c.
'To James Lane 208 acres &c.
To Nathaniel Page 28 acres &c.
To John Whitmore 28 acres, also 65 acres &c.
To James Minot 2 io pounds.
Note: Whereas it not being specified in the writing for Each of us to have an equil share in the estate in england, we doe all mutually agree to it & for the Eldest son his double part.

When the inhabitants of the Winthrop Farms petitioned in 1725 for a separate parish, they were not successful at first, but were soon incorporated as the town of Bedford, Sept. 23, 1729. At the first town meeting Oct. 6, 1729, the family of Col. John Lane was represented in office by his nephew Samuel Fitch, town clerk and selectman, by his son-in-law Nathaniel Page, selectman, his son Job Lane, surveyor, and his son John Lane, sealer of weights and measures. Many oaks from the Winthrop-Lane farm were sacrificed to build the strong frame of the first meeting house in 1730, and the worm-eaten timbers may now be seen in the second house. The oak standing in 1899 at the corner of Concord and Billerica streets in Bedford is called the Winthrop Oak.

Nathaniel Page, Senior ${ }^{1}$, came from England in 1684 ; was a citizen of Roxbury, Mass., 1686, and early appointed by Gov. Joseph Dudley, sheriff or marshal of Suffolk Co.; purchased the Grimes estate of $j 00$ acres at Shawshine in Billerica, now Bedford, Mass., in $168_{7}$, a part of a grant from the Colonial Court to Edward Oaks and sold by him, in 166r. The house Nathaniel Page ${ }^{1}$ built has sheltered eight generations of the family and name, including many brave warriors and prominent men of the town. The spirit of patriotism was cradled in that dwelling as in but few others. For fully two centuries it has preserved in it a colonial banner, originally designed in England and early accepted as a standard of the organized militia of Massachusetts. Its design represents an extended arm incased in mail, grasping a sword, and the motto in Latin, "Conquer or die." In i 885 this most precious relic was presented to the custody of the trustees of Bedford Free Public Library.

Nathaniel Page, Senior, d. 12 Apr., 1692 . Had wife Joanna
Nathaniel Page, Jr.'., succeeded his father on the Bedford homestead. He also received a patrimony of 28 acres from the estate of John Lane his father-in-law. He was one of Major John Lane's troopers in 1706, and trumpeter in Queen Anne's war, 1703-1713.

Children of Nathaniel and Susanna (Lane) Page:

JOHN WHITMORE ${ }^{3}$, of Medford, Mass., m. MARY LANE ${ }^{3}$, (John², Job ${ }^{1}$ ) ; she b. in Billerica $1_{5}$ May, 1686 . He was b. 27 Aug., $169_{3}$, son of Dea. John ${ }^{2}$ and Rachel (Eliot) Whitmore and grandson of Francis and Isabel (Parker) Whitmore, an early settler of Cambridge, Mass. Mr. Whitmore received real estate in the division of John Lane's estate, r7x.-W. H. Whitmore.

Bedford, Jan. 20, 1730 , he was "credited with gifts of money to incouragement for the town in the year 1729 ." He was town clerk of Bedford $1746-48$.

The distinguished heroism of Mary Lane is related in the following story told by Leander Hosmer her grandson. During a period of Indian alarm in Queen Anne's war, the Lane family was left in the garrison with only one soldier on guard. A certain stump of a tree excited the suspicion of Mary Lane as she looked out of the window in the roof and she called upon the guard to shoot it. But he declined to do it and laughed at her apprehensions. At length she told him that if he would not shoot, she should take the gun and open fire herself. She then seized the gun and discharged it; and she saw the stump roll into sight, a dead Indian !

8.

Dea. JOB LANE ${ }^{3}$ (John², Job ${ }^{1}$ ), $1689-1762$, was b. in Billerica, Mass., and lived on the old homestead. He was on the "Indian scout that went the rouns with Mager Lane," his father, in 1706 ; was commissioned Lieutenant of Troops, by Gov. William Dummer, Apr. 16, 1734; was appointed by the inhabitants of Winthrop Farm, in 1725 , to the General Court, to obtain for them the regular enjoyment of public worship; selectman of Billerica, 1726 , 1727, where he was connected with the church; was chosen surveyor at the first town meeting in Bedford, Oct. 6, 1729 ; was credited Jan. 20, 1730, for subscription in money toward building the meeting house in 1729 ; original member of the church at its organization, July $\mathrm{I}_{5}$, 1730 ; received "pue on the north side of the meeting house goyning to the menistral pue," Oct. 18, 1734 ; elected deacon, Feb. 9, 1737-8 and retained the office until his death, 9 Aug., 1762 .

With wife Martha he and others sold real estate to J. Winslow, Apr. 30, 1719 , to W. Merriam, Apr. 12, 1720, to S. Woodbridge and others, Sept. 23, 1725 .

Together they signed an agreement among the heirs of Capt. Samuel Ruggles of Roxbury, Mass., Mar. 17, 1724-5, and petitioned that the estate be divided, Oct. i, i730. He and others, heirs of the late Samuel Ruggles, petitioned, June 20, 1748 , for a division of land in Hardwick, Mass., r-ro belonging to Job Lane in the right of his wife Martha, deceased.

Probably he was the Job Lane, grantor of real estate to T . Sprague, Jan. 20, 1730, to ——, Iune 21,1746 , to J. Lane, Dec. 26, 1748, to C. Paige, Feb. 7, 1749, to N. Bowes, May 3, 1756 , to B. Kidder, May 29, 1758. He was probably grantee, Oct. 21 , 1737, June 21, 1746.
Job Lane and Mary Lane his wife and John Lane, Esp., and others, all of Bedford and Billerica, sold to Josiah Richardson for 61-10-O, Feb. 23, 1749, two tracts of land in Lancaster, Co. of Worcester, containing by estimation about 205 acres-said land was laid out on the Right of John Whiting late of said Lancaster, as recorded in Lancaster Town Book of records, Nov. 20, 1723.

Bedford Tax List, North Part, 1748, contained the following Lane names: Dea. Job Lane, Col. John Lane, Capt. James Lane, John Lane, Jr., Job Lane, Jr., John Lane, 3d, Timothy Lane.

The "English Right" was of great assistance to the beneficiaries for several generations. A fragmentary correspondence, consisting of scores of letters, orders and bills passed between the English custodians and Job Lane, is among the interesting papers treasured in Bedford. The annual remittance was sometimes made in merchandise at the request of the owners. Dress goods were often ordered and received. Some Bedford ladies appeared on important occasions attired in English gowns. The arrival of the large leather covered trunks were events of great interest. The legal claimants became very numerous, and the town did not fail to tax the annuities. During the Revolution the income was not received, but after peace was declared, the full amount came in one remittance.-A. E. Browin.

The Lane brothers Job and John received a bond from John Love and Mr. Metcalf, Feb. 17, 1717, and the English rents henceforth were distributed among the heirs under the style of Job and John Lane.

Stearns was a prosperous farmer on the Stearns homestead in Billerica. His father Isaac Stearns was a well known and influential citizen of Middlesex county, who held various local and state offices and was for several years a member of the Executive Council.

Mrs. Stearns d. 30 Nov., 18 I5, æ. 39 years. Her children are mentioned in her father's will, Apr. io, i & 8 , of which Mr. Stearns was named an executor.

Their eight children were:
I. Franklin, b. 25 Jan., i802, m. Sally Lane ${ }^{6}$ (Benjamin ${ }^{5}$, John ${ }^{4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{9}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ).
II. Mary, b. 28 Dec., 1803 , m. i3 May, 1832 , William WhitFORD.
III. John Oweń, b. 3 Aug., i8oj, m. Margaret C. Walker; went to Virginia, civil engineer in the construction of the Chesapeake and Ohio canal, contractor in building various railroads in Maryland, Pennsylvania and New Jersey, director of the New Jersey Central railroad.
IV. Onslow, b. 2 Feb., 1807 , d. 23 Feb., 1808.
V. Eliza Ans, b. 4 Oct., i8o8, m. John Dennis Bllings.
VI. Osslow, b. 30 Aug., i8ıo. He remained at home attending school and academy and farming until $I_{7}$ years of age. In 1827 he went to Boston as clerk in the dry goods jobbing house of Howe & Holbrook, afterwards J. C. Howe & Co. In I830, he joined his brother, John O. Stearns, in civil engineering and in 1833, in constructing railroads in several of the middle states. In 1837, he returned to New England and engaged in the building of railroads in Massachusetts, New Hampshire and Vermont. Among the positions he filled were superintendent of the Nashua and Lowell railroad, i838, agent of the Northern railroad of N. H., 1845, and its president, $185^{2}$, until his death, general superintendent of the Vermont Central railroad, 1852 to 1855 , director of the Nashua and Lowell railroad, 1857 to 1875 , president of Old Colony and Newport railroad, 1866 to 1877 , also for a time president of the Narragansett Steamship Co., president of the Concord railroad, N. H., I874, until his death.

Beginning his career at the foundation of railroad construction, there was no department in railroad management with the details of which Mr. Stearns was not familiar. To the management of the various railroads with which he was connected, he brought a more thorough equipment than was possessed by any other man in New England and one surpassed in completeness by few men in the country. He won a reputation for enterprise and shrewdness almost unparallelled, and his services were sought beyond the geographical limits to which his operations had been confined.

Nor did railroad interests absorb the whole of his time and attention. In 1862, he was a member of the N. H. Senate, and in 1863, its president. In 1864, he was delegate at large from N. H., to the Republican National Convention at Baltimore, Md. He was nominated, Jan. 7, 1869, and inaugurated, June 3, governor of N. H., and also served a second term in 1870 . As chief magistrate he gave close attention to details, no interest failed to receive his careful attention, and his administration was characteristically wise, economical and successful.

Gov. Stearns m. 26 June, 1845 , Mary A. Holpronk, dau. of Hon. Adin Holbrook of Lowell, Mass. In i846, he made Concord, N. H., his permanent home, a public spirited, opulent, hospitable man. Presidents Grant and Hayes were his guests when visiting Concord. Here he d. 29 Dec., 1878 , and his widow d. 27 July, 1895. Their children :

OLIVER WEILINGTON LANE ${ }^{5}$ (James ${ }^{4 \cdot 3}$, John², Job ${ }^{1}$ ). 1751-1793, was born in Bedford, Mass., 27 Oct., 1751, graduated Harvard College, 1772 , received degree of M. A., 1779 , a distinguished teacher and writing master at West End, Boston, Mass.

He was named, with his brother James, executor of the will of his grandmother, Mary Wellington-Lane, who died ir Dec., i783, the widow of Dea. Job Lane ${ }^{3}$ ( John², Job'). This trust he declined in a letter of neatest penmanship, directed to the Judge of Probate.
"Hon ble Oliver l'rescorit EsqT.
Bustox, March $4^{\text {th }}{ }_{17} 84$.
Sir,
I wou'd inform you that my Prother with myself are Executors to the Will $\mathbb{E}$ Testament of $m y$ (irandmother.

My Situation and Indisposition are such at present as render it inconvenient for me to wait on you with him. Keposing Confidence in you and trust in him, I shall rest contented with his Representation to you, and your Determination.

I am With Respect,
Your Hume ${ }^{\text {. Servt }}$.
Oliver Weldington Lave."
Master Lane's West Boston Writing School.
When President George Washington visited Boston on Saturday, Oct. 24, 1;89, Master Lane's pupils were paraded in Cornhill, now Washington street, to welcome him as the procession passed along. They stood in the gutters in front of long rows of men whose strength was required to protect them from the crowd on the sidewalks. General Washington was mounted on a white charger, seated in uniform with characteristic erectness and dignity. As he rode along with uncovered head, he inclined his body first on one side and then on the other, distinctly bowing. The pupils were placed in front of Mr. Jonathan Moore's hardware store opposite Williams Court. I well remember the laugh which our salute created when, as the General passed us, we briskly rolled in our hands quills with the longest feathers we could find.-Recollections by $\mathrm{Wm} . \mathrm{H}$. Sumner. Gen. Reg. 14: 161.

Item: Mr. Oliver W. Lane, by the liberal subscription of patriotic gentlemen, opens a Sunday School in Boston, the middle of April, i791, for "both sexes under a certain age, whom habits of Industry or other causes debar from instruction on week days."

Lucius Manlius Sargent was one of Master Lane's pupils in 1793 , at 7 years of age, and thought him severe. "The master was harsh, he did not like him. One mode of his punishment was to make a boy stand on a very narrow $\log$ with scarcely any foothold, with a large chip in his mouth for an example; yet if any urchin lifted up his eyes to look at him, he was condemned to a similar punishment."- Fohn H. Sheppard.

The Rev. John Murray was pastor and Oliver W. Lane was deacon of the First Universalist church at the corner of Hanover and North Bennet streets, Boston. Mr. Murray "was installed, Oct. 24th, 1793 , by Deacon Oliver W. Lane, as the record states, 'in a very appropriate and affecting manner.' "-Memorial History of Boston, 3: 489.

Dea. Oliver W. Lane m. in Boston, 23 Oct., 1784 , SUSANNA NEWMAN, and d. 3 Nor., 1793 . In the petition for administration on his estate, dated Nor. 19, 1793 , he is styled "gentleman." The estate was settled in Suffolk, Probate Court, No. 2022I. He left estate on Leverett street, Cushman avenue, Boston, where he resided, and five acres of land in Bedford, Mass.

Epitaph in Old Granary Burying Ground.
"Beneath this spot reposes the mortal part of Mr. Oliver W. Lane Junr. Dea'n of the Universalist Church in Boston,

Ob't Nov. $3^{\text {d }} 1793$ aged 42 years, in whom was united the real christian, the accomplished gentleman and unrivalled preceptor.

Beside the parent sleeps his son John Murray Lane
Ob't June $20^{\text {th }}$ I 794 aged 14 months.
The stock and scion sprang from the same root; Entwined in Heaven they bear immortal fruit.'

The "Junr" in this inscription presents an unaccountable mistake.

31.

SOLOMON LANE ${ }^{5}$ (James ${ }^{4.3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ), 1756-1837, b. Bedford, Mass., 7 Aug., $\mathrm{r}_{756}$. He was returned with Capt. John Moore's Bedford Militia Co., Apr. 3, ${ }_{177} 6$, of soldiers, who were at Concord Fight, Apr. 19, 1775 :
"Solomon Lane travelled 33 miles, in service 12 days." He was also orderly sergeant in the Continental army.

He said of Jonathan Wilson, who was captain of Bedford Minute Men, and was killed, Apr. 19, 1775: "Capt. Wilson was a fine officer. I well remember him as he looked that morning. He drew his men up in front of the old Fitch tavern and said, 'Come, boys, we'll take a little something, and we'll have every dog of the enemy before night.' He was as lively as a bird ; but he never came home till they brought him home."

The flintlock musket Mr. Lane carried in the Concord Fight was exhibited among the army relics at the sesqui-centennial of Bedford, in 1879.

Solomon Lane settled on a part of the homestead in Bedford, where he was much in town business and is said to have had the Family Coat of Arms. He was grantee in the transfer of real estate, Apr. 5, 1781, Dec. 31 i, 1785, Feb. 3, 1790, Mar. 8, i79i, Oct. 4, 1794 , Feb. 1, I 799.

The Pastor's Tithing, Mem. of Rev. Samuel Stearns:
"June I, i797, Mr. Solomon Lane, I spare rib of pork.
June 5, 1797, Mr. Lane, 3 codfish.
June 23, 1797, Mrs. Lane, I lb. butter.
From September to Thanksgiving, Solomon Lane, ilb. butter."
His bass roice, loud enough to make the summers start in the oaken ceiling of the church, would join with the tenor of his minister, Rev. Samuel Stearns, if perchance the choir were absent. He was "Uncle Solomon" to all the Bedford folks, in his old agea man of rare excellencies, some roughness and no show, who carried under his farmer's coat a heart as gentle as a woman's." Fonathan F. Stcarns, D. D.

Solomon Lane m. 29 May, 178 I , by Rer. Josiah Stearns of Epping, N. H., SAR AH, dau. of Rev. Josiah and Sarah (Abbott) STEARNS ${ }^{5}$, (John ${ }^{4.3 \cdot 2}$, Isaac ${ }^{1}$ ). Her father, the Rev. Josiah Stearns, was b. in Billerica, Mass., 20 Jan., 1731-2, a graduate of Harvard College, ${ }^{1751}$, pastor at Epping, N. H., Mar. 8, 1758, his pastorate and life terminating, 25 July, 1788 . Tall in person, cultured in mind, devout and tender in spirit, he was no ordinary man. He was an unwavering friend of liberty. He sent his sons into the field and made large pecuniary sacrifices for the American cause. As he reached home from a State convention in Exeter, 1775, he called his children together, told them that he had pledged himself for freedom against rule and tyranny, and added, "If the cause prevail, it will be a great blessing to the country, but if it should fail, your poor old father's head will soon be a button for a hatter."

The Rev. Samuel Stearns, b. Epping, N. H., 8 Apr., 1770 , graduated Phillips Exeter academy and Harvard college, 1794, the fourth minister of Bedford, Mass., Apr. 27, 1796, to his death, 26 Dec., 1834, was a brother of Mrs. Lane.

Mr. Lane's will, signed Mar. 9, 1826, was presented for probate, Apr. if, 1837, son Oliver Wellington Lane executor. It gave bequests to daus., Anna Parkhurst and Sally Lane, to daughter-inlaw, Amelia Lane, to grandchildren, Samuel Stearns Dutton, Laura Ann Dutton, Susanna Elizabeth Parkhurst, and Sarah Elizabeth Lane, to Rev. Samuel Stearns, and to son, Oliver Wellington Lane. Mr. Solomon Lane died i Feb., 1837, æ. 80 years.

"Ah! warm affection cannot save
From pain and sickness and the grave;
But power divine our soul shall raise,
In endless life, God's love to praise."
Mrs. Sarah, wife of Mr. Solomon Lane, died i3 Aug., 1825, æ. 69 years.

> "Draw near my friends and take a thought, How soon the grave must be your lot; Make sure of Christ while life remain, And death shall be your eternal gain."

ZIBA LANE ${ }^{6}\left(\right.$ Ziba $^{5}$, John ${ }^{4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ), $1782-\mathrm{I} 866$, was born in Billerica, Mass., 31 Jan., 1782 , a farmer and tradesman, lived in Amherst, N. H., and on the Kennebec river, Maine, and at Lyons, N. Y. He m. 9 Jan., i8o6, FRANCES GORDEN DENNIS.

When Levi their first child was a babe in arms they moved to Maine. They had to cross the Kennebec river. It was rapidly rising on account of recent rains. There was but little time. With Spartan-like decision and courage the mother seized as many of her treasures as she could carry and her baby by his dress in her teeth and crossed in safety. Just as she stepped upon the opposite bank the swift water carried away the log that had served as a bridge. After the war of 1812 , the family removed to the wilds of Wayne Co., New York. Four Lane brothers joined a New England colony and proceeded most of the way on foot. The boy Levi at 86 years of age remembered how startled the people were on the way, fearing the approach of the British. To the eyes of the boy the guns of the company as they were stacked looked like a forest. When the travelers reached Utica, and the residents found they were not enemies, there was great rejoicing. At Utica, they met with Indians, still restless and seemingly dangerous. The fright was now with the Yankee parents, who refused the request of the Indians to take charge of the baby-Lavinia now. But at length the Indians seemed so kind, they were allowed to take the child. Then the redskins danced with pleasure, held a real powwow, did not hurt the child in the least, but assisted in carrying her and some of the goods a long distance. It was a great treat for the Indians to carry a white baby. Five miles north of the present county seat of Lyons, in the wild forest, broken only here and there by a lonely settlement, Mr. Lane, in 1814 , took up a claim and made his home, and went to Geneva to mill. He raised a large and happy family.

"The name of John Lane, Sr., should stand side by side with that of Fulton and Morse and McCormick, as one of the great inventors of the country. He was an accomplished mechanic and practical farmer. He invented and made the first steel plough, in 1835, the use of which has proved of national importance and is now essential to the agricultural progress of all civilized nations . . . . He absolutely refused to take out a patent on his valuable invention, saying that if it was of any value or service to his brother farmers and mechanics they were cordially welcome to it. .... His remarkable inventive genius and personal high character, it is the object of this address to commemorate."-Dr. J. F. Daggett at Reunion of Pioneers of Will Co., Ill., 1890.

JONAS HENRY LANE, M. D. ${ }^{6}$ (Jonas ${ }^{5}$, Samuel ${ }^{4}$, James ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ), 1800-1861, was b. at Lancaster, Mass., midnight, 27, 28 Jan., 180o, was bap. under the name of Henry, but received the addition of Jonas by act of legislature, June 18, 1825.

When two years old he had white swelling at right hip joint, the head of the thigh bone passed from its socket and a new socket was formed shortening the limb about two inches ; was educated in the public schools until fourteen, then at the academies in Groton, 1814, Leicester and Lancaster ; graduated at Harvard University, 1821 ; studied medicine at Westminster, at McLean Asylum, with Rufus Wyman, M. I., with John P. Spooner, M. D., and in Mass. General Hospital ; received the degree M. D. from Harvard, 1826, commenced the practice of medicine in Boston, at No. io Hanover Street, 1826, No. 25 School Street, 1829, 170 Washington Street, 1830 to 1848 , then at No. 4 Montgomery Place. He was the first physician in Boston and probably in New England, Sept. 28, 1846, to treat diseases of the larynx, trachea and bronchia by the local application of the solution of nitrate of silver, which he learned of Dr. Horace Green of the City of New York.

He was thrown from his chaise upon the sidewalk in Charles Street, July 6, 1847, his health injured and little finger of left hand crushed and amputated and the hand never recovered its strength and usefulness. He responded by letter to the invitation to be present at the celebration of the two-hundreth anniversary of the incorporation of Lancaster, Mass., June 15, 1853. In the opening of 186I, with the War of the Rebellion, he became very anxious about his country's welfare, and, at the defeat of the Union forces at the first battle of Bull Run, received the attack which resulted in his death by paralysis, 5 Sept., $186 \mathrm{r}, \mathfrak{\text { æ. }}$. 6 yrs , 7 ms ., 8 ds .

Dr. Lane attended the ministry of Rev. lyman Beecher, D. D., 1828, and united with the Hanover Street church in March, 1829. He continued his connection with the same society in its removal to Salem Street and Bowdoin Street under the pastoral care of Rev. Messrs. Lyman Beecher and Hubbard Winslow. The following terse statement of his Christian hope was found among his papers:
"I look to Jesus, the Author and Finisher of my faith, as my Redeemer and my Saviour, and to the Holy Spirit as my Sanctifier and Guide, through whom I have acceptance with God the Father. I look away from myself, a sinful worm of the dust, to Him through the shedding of whose blood: through whose merits and mediation I have the forgiveness of my sins. I believe in Him, and through this faith I have justification before God : and walking in the ways of obedience before Him, I commit all my interests for time and for eternity into His hands, as my Faithful Keeper until I come to my Father in Heaven."

Funeral services were held at his residence, No. 4 Montgomery Place, Boston, conducted by Rev. Edward N. Kirk, D. D., and at the residence of his brother, Anthony Lane, Esq., of Lancaster. His remains were interred in the new cemetery, near the North village, Lancaster. All sought to honor him as the model husband, father, physician, friend and Christian. Many there were who called him blessed. May there be many of his descendants who shall emulate his virtues.

Dr. Lane commenced a very complete system of family registration in Oct., 1844, which was continued by his children. These records have been freely used in this work.

He m. 5 Oct., 1830 , by Rev. Walter King, FRANCES ANN BROWN3; she b. i6 Jan., i8o7, dall. of James Fitch Brown² (James ${ }^{1}$ ) of Norwich, Conn., and his wife, Eliza Rogers Woodbridge ${ }^{3}$ (Samuel ${ }^{2}$, Dr. Dudley ${ }^{1}$ ). Born of parents of no common education and ability, reared in a family of Christian love and example, her life became blended with that of her husband, the good physician, worthy counsellor and beloved head of their united household. What happy homes were those into whose very life her own sweet life was so joyously blended! Model Christian wife and mother, beloved of husband and revered by children, her life beautifully adorned the gospel of Christ. She entered into rest Nov. 16, 1846. Her remains were temporarily interred at Mount Auburn and subsequently removed to the family lot in the cemetery at North Lancaster.
"Descendants, whoever you may be, you have just cause to be proud of such ancestors as this parentage and those preceding. Seek to pattern from their characters and example, and, like them, die ripe in the faith of these fathers and mothers in Israel who have so gloriously preceded you."

LEVI LANE ${ }^{7}$ (Ziba ${ }^{6.5}$, John ${ }^{4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ), 1806 -1894, was born in Amherst, N. H., 13 Nov., 1806. In 1814 , when eight years old, he moved with his parents from the state of Maine to Lyons, Wayne Co., N. Y. There was much work to be done in the new settlement. From his boyhood he did his full share. He learned the blacksmith trade and all through life was a hard worker. The habits of industry formed in youth followed him all his days. He was most happy when doing something useful.

He m. 4 Mar., 1829 , SALLY BAUNETT when he was twenty-two and she eighteen years of age. They lived happily together nearly 62 years. On March 4, 1889, their children gave them a surprise celebration, the sixtieth anniversary of their wedded life. In 1868, he united with the Presbyterian church of Lyons. In the feebleness of old age, when forgetful of other things, he never forgot his religious duties. Every day, to the very last, he read his Bible and offered prayer. He was a good man, of whom his neighbors and those who knew him best, speak only in terms of praise.

Mrs. Lane was b. 4 July, 18 io, and d. 7 Dec., i89o. Mr. Lane d. March, 1894, æ. 87 years.
"Father, though from yonder sky
Cometh neither voice nor cry, Yet we know from thee to-day, Every pain hath passed away.

Not for thee shall tears be given, Child of God and heir of heaven, For he gave thee sweet release, Thine the Christian's death of peace.

Well we know thy living faith Had the power to conquer death, As a living rose may bloom, By the border of the tomb.

Father, in that solemn trust
We commend thee, dust to dust !
In that faith we wait, till risen, Thou shall meet us all in heaven.

While we weep as Jesus wept, Thou shall sleep as Jesus slept; With thy Saviour thou shall rest, Crowned and glorified and blest." -The Lyons Republican, Mar. 25, 189.

JONATHAN ABBOT LANE ${ }^{7}$ (Jonathan ${ }^{6.5}$, John ${ }^{4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ), 1822-1898, was born in Bedford, Mass., 15 May, 1822, at the homestead built by his great grandfather, Mr. John Lane ${ }^{4}$. Moving with his parents to Boston, Mass., when he was between one and a half and two years old, and graduating from the old Boylston Grammar school in 1843, and from the English High school in 1837, he became a prominent man in the business, philanthropic and religious circles of Boston. "A typical Boston merchant, representing in his birth, tastes, training and influence all that is best, and standing high in the commercial circles of the city and of the nation as well."-The Congregationalist.

Entering as a boy the employ of a dry goods jobbing house, he obtained control of the business in 1849, and continued it in his own name. The firm was afterward known as Lane & Washburn, then from 1864 to 1894 , as Allen, Lane & Company ; later it was incorporated as the Allen-Lane Company, with Mr. Lane as president. The concern has had different places of business, having been at No. 266 Devonshire street since the Boston fire of 1872, and is counted the oldest woolen commission house in Boston.

During the Civil War, Mr. Lane was president of a branch of the Union League and private in the Home Guards. He was a member of the Massachusetts House of Representatives, 1863 and 1864 ; and of the Senate 1874 and 1875 ; was life member and president of the old Mercantile Library Association, 18751878, and largely instrumental in the reorganization of that institution; served on the Executive Council of Governor Rice, 1878 ; president of the Boston Merchants' Association, 18871895, and represented the seventh Congressional district as Republican Presidential Elector, 1892. He was director of the American Congregational Association, 1893; president of the Congregational Club, 1894, of which he had been a member for twenty-five years from its organization; member of Mayor Quincy's Merchants' Municipal Committee and of the Associated Board of Trade, 1896; gave a reminiscent and racy address at the seventy-fifth anniversary of Union Church, with which he had been a member in youth and manhood, 1897. Mr. Lane was a life member of the American Economic Association, and spoke and wrote pamphlets on the subject of taxation and in behalf of consular reform. He was a charter member of the Boston Art Club; a life member of the Young Men's Christian Association, and the Young Men's Christian Union ; one of the advisory board of the Children's Friend Society ; a director of the Home for Aged Men ; state trustee of the Hospital Cottages, Baldwinville, Mass., and was interested, officially or otherwise, in many other benevolent organizations. A list of Mr. Lane's Discourses and Sources of Biographical Information relating to him has been prepared by his son, Mr. Lucius P. Lane, and twenty-five copies have been privately printed. It may be consulted in some of the large libraries.

Jonathan A. Lane married at West Hawley, Mass., by her father Rev. Benjamin F. Clarke, 13 Nov., 185i, SARAH DELIA CLARKE ${ }^{4}$ (Benjamin F.3, and Sarah, dau. of Israel and Chloe (Lombard) Chapin, Samuel ${ }^{2}$, of Sharon, Mass., and Ursula Fellis Church, Joseph F. ${ }^{1}$, of Jamaica Plain, Mass.) Mrs. Lane was born in Buckland, Mass., 7 Oct., 1826, and graduated from Mount Holyoke Female Seminary in 1845, being a classmate of Mr. Lane's sister, Ruhamah Augusta Lane. Mr. Lane died of heart failure, at his residence since 1856 , No. 623 Tremont street, Sunday morning, June 5, 1898 . Appropriate funeral services were held June 7, at the house and at the Union Church, Columbus Avenue. "Busy Boston stopped to honor one of its leaders in commerce and politics."-Boston Herald.

The interment was in the family lot at Bedford, Mass. Will dated April $\mathbf{1 2}$, 1889, was filed in the Registry of the Suffolk Probate Court, June 9, 1898 ; wife and eldest son executors.
"Mr. Lane had a reputation which was not confined within business limits, though for years he had been one of the leading spirits in the commercial life of Boston. Although he was well known as one of the Allen-Lane Company, dry goods commission merchants, he had large interests that lay in other social, political and charitable ways."-Boston Fournal.
"In the death of Hon. Jonathan A. Lane the city of Boston has lost one of its most high minded and public spirited citizens. But his sympathies and his efforts were not bounded by local limitations. He desired pure and efficient city government, but his ideals did not halt at that point. He was no less ardent in his championship of large and practical reforms for state and nation. There was hardly a progressive or a philanthropic movement in this city that had not felt his influence. He had been helpful and zealous in whatever seemed to him to give promise of wholesome progress, and the good causes which had benefitted by his means, his counsel and his service were almost numberless."-Boston Transcript.

A monument in representation of a Grecian temple is erected to his memory in Shawshine cemetery, Bedford, Mass. Inscription : "Jonathan Abbot Lane, son of Jonathan and Ruhamah Lane, born in Bedford, r 5 May, I 822 . After he had served his own generation by the will of God, fell on sleep, Boston, 5 June, 1898 ." This memorial, erected in the family enclosure, is but one of several which mark the resting place of former merchants and useful men of Boston, those to the memory of Jonathan Lane, the father, and Samuel W. Lane, a brother, being among them.

JOHN CHAPIN LANE ${ }^{8}$ (Jonathan Abbot ${ }^{7}$, Jonathan ${ }^{6} .{ }^{5}$, $J^{\prime}{ }^{4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John², Job ${ }^{1}$ ), $185^{2-' 98, ~ w a s ~ b . ~ B o s t o n, ~ M a s s ., ~} 8$ Nov., 1852, the ninth person in as many successive generations whose name begins with the letter J, and the eldest son of Hon. Jonathan A. Lane whom he greatly resembled in his noble conception of his duties as a public spirited citizen. He married in Sept., 1883 , HARRIET BREWER WINSLOW ; she b. 3 Jan., 1859, dau. George S. Winslow of Norwood, Mass.

Mr. Lane entered the Boston Latin School in 1865, and was graduated in 1871 , receiving a Franklin medal. He entered Harvard College in 1871, and graduated with honors in 1875. After graduation he studied law in the office of George W. Morse, Esq., and at the Law School of Boston University, receiving the degree of LL.B. in 1876 . He was admitted to the Suffolk Bar in 1878, and practiced law under the firm of Morse \& Lane with offices at 28 State street. In 1879 he removed to Norwood, Mass., where he became influential in the educational, moral and social development of the town. In 1880 he was appointed one of the Trial Justices of Norfolk County, and in the judgment of $\mathrm{r}, 005$ cases distinguished himself for keen, clear-headed, righteous decisions. From 1883, onward, he was associated with many important litigations, being special counsel for several large firms engaged in industry and transportation. As a counsellor and strictly commercial lawyer he stood among the first, and his firm built up a large practice. He was president of the Allen-Lane Company, commission merchants, and director in the woolen mills at Warren and East Wilton, Me., and Manchester, N. H. He was treasurer and director of Newton Street Railroad Co., Jan. 26, 1889; was projector and treasurer of the Norwood Associates for Co-operative Savings, president of the Norwood Board of Trade, vice-president of the Massachusetts Board of Trade, as well as holder and manager of several large trusts.

Judge Lane became a member of Hebron Chapter of Free Masons in 1885, and of the Cyprus Commandery of Knights Templar, located at Hyde Park, Oct. 27, 1887; took the Scottish Rite Degrees at Boston, and became member of Massachusetts Consistory in the spring of 1896 , taking the 32 d degree, April 24 , 1896. He was also a member of Aleppo Temple of the Mystic Shrine at Boston, and of the Loyal Contentment Lodge of Odd Fellows at Norwood.

He was an important factor in the political world, enthusiastic as a Republican up to 1884 , afterwards active on the Democratic State Committee till 1895 , then manager of the campaign of the Gold Democrats and delegate to the National Convention at Indianapolis, in the summer of 1896 . In the fall of 1896 , he was chosen vice-president of the Young Men's Democratic Club of Massachusetts, and re-elected in 1897.

He was deeply interested in the public schools of Norwood, and instituted the Norwood medals for merit and good scholarship in i S90, now so eagerly sought by competing pupils. He was a member of the Norwood Literary Club, and chairman of the School Committee in 1894, and of the Board of Trustees of the Public Library $1893-$ ' 98.

Mr. and Mrs. Lane were members of the First Congregational church at Norwood. He was admitted without giving up his membership in the Union church, Boston, with which he had been for a long time connected. He served on the prudential committee of the church, on the committee of the parish and on the music committee in 1897-98, a tireless worker and inspiring helper in all departments of the church and an endeared Bible class teacher in the Sunday School. He had inherited through a long line of ancestors a tendency to distinguishing public service, and he ranked high in the social, business, benevolent and religious circles with which he was connected.

On Nov. 2, 1898, seemingly in the best of health, he left his home in Norwood to take an early morning train for Boston. Thinking himself late he ran part of the way to the station. He was taken severely ill on the cars, and on arriving in Boston went to his mother's house on Tremont street. He had recovered sufficiently Nov. I5, to be driven to his home in Norwood, and appeared improved by the change. The next day his trouble developing into pericarditis, he failed steadily until on Sunday morning, Nov. 20, 1898, he passed away.
"The best words of formal resolution can but faintly express the sense of loss we feel in the death of our late President John C. Lane.
"If integrity is the best evidence of true manhood, an unwillingness to inflict unnecessary pain the mark of the gentleman, disinterestedness the test of citizenship, and self denial the characteristic of the Christian, surely we may say that John C. Lane was an honest man, a perfect gentleman, a good citizen, and a zealous Christian."-Norwood Board of Trade.

PART III.

James Lane of Casco Bay, Me.,

AND DESCENDANTS.

The Rev. James Pillsbury Lane furnished a sketch of "James Lane of North Yarmouth, Me., and His Descendants" for the Neai England Historic-Genealogical Register of April, i888, vol. 42: pp. 141-152.

1.

JAMES LANE', b. in England, son of James Lane, was a craftsman and perhaps member of the guild of turners, London, in 1654 . The same year he had joint ownership with his brother, John Lane, in real estate at Rickmansworth, Hertford Co., received from their parents, in which their brother, Job Lane, claimed also a share. James Lane had paid debts on the property, "a good sum," and was reduced in circumstances. Jeremiah Gould wrote to Job Lane from London, June 6, 1654: "You wonder your Brother James should deceive me to make away your estate . . . I find a surrender of premises from both father and mother unto James and John and their heirs forever. . . . Your brother James, he is very poor and I hope very honest."-Gen. Reg., 1857.

The brothers, Job, James and Edward Lane, settled in Malden, Mass., about 1656 , probably in some sort of partnership, which, however, did not continue long. James Lane soon removed to Casco Bay, Me. Edward Lane was of Boston, Mass., and sold his Malden estate in r663. Job Lane removed to Billerica, Mass., about 1664 .

James Lane seems accounted an inhabitant of Charlestown, Mass., in 1658 . In 1660, Nov. 19, then of Malden, he appointed Job Lane his attorney.
"I James Lane, of Malden, Middlesex County, Turner, Have constituted my well beloved brother Job Lane of same Malden, my true and lawful attorney in my name and sted to act etc. Seal and anchor: Witness, Thomas Esdell, Wm. Pearse."

While the deposition of John Lane ${ }^{2}$ (James ${ }^{1}$ ) July 2, 1733 , shows that the family "removed from Maulden to a Place since called North Yarmouth, in Casco Bay," the statement that it was "about seventy-five years since," cannot be taken as giving the exact year.

Raleigh Gilbert probably entered the harbor of Casco Bay in 1608. Capt. John Smith anchored here in 16i4. Thomas Dermer must have been here in 1619. Christopher Levett was welcomed at the falls of Presumpscot in 1623, by the Sagamore Skatterygusset. This Sachem was chief of the Aucocisco tribe from which comes the name Casco. All the early plantations were called by the general name of Casco Bay. No boundaries were defined and the Indian designations were in use. The ancient places of Maquoit, Harraseeket, Westcustigo, Damaris Cove, Machegonne Neck, Purpooduck and Spurwink became better known as Falmouth in 1658.

Ferdinando Gorges early granted a township extending six miles on Casco Bay east of Westcustigo river. Here William Royall, a cooper and clap-board cleaver, settled as early as 1636 , purchased land in 1643, gave his name to the river and ended his days. The municipality of Westcustigo was recog. nized by Mass. in 1680.

\text { "Fort Royal 22d September } 168 \mathrm{o} \text {. }

"For the further enlargement to the settlement of the township, by the governour and company of the Massachusetts Colony, on the easterly side of the West Custigo river on Casco Bay; it is hereby granted unto them, that the waste lands lying between the said grant and Casco shall be added to the township called Damerras Cove. It is also hereby ordered and declared that the name of the plantation shall be North Yarmouth.

Thomas Danforth President."
Here James Lane acquired by purchase and improvement large estates in various situations, and gave his name to a point of land and to an island off the east bank of Royall's river which still bears his name. The Indian headquarters for fishing the streams and coves along shore and island of Casco Bay seem to have been on Lane's Island. Tradition marks the island as the place where the Indians planted corn, held councils, tortured their captives and buried their dead. As the banks of the island cave away, human bones are exposed to view. From the manner of burial it is supposed that the graves are those of the aborigines.

Court Items: James Lane was a frequent petitioner to the General Court, and his family is mentioned casually four times in Willis' History of Portland. He was living at Falmouth in 1658, and was among the petitioners to be joined to the Massachusetts' Bay government. Among eight neighbors he renewed the petition, "April ye 26th (1659?) haueing formerlie presented a petition to this Honourd Court for yor takeing vs vnder $y^{r}$ gouernment Doe by these in ye behalfe of our selues & ye rest of our Neighbours humbly renew our request vnto you."-1Mass. Archives.

James Lane received a legacy by his uncle John Lane's will dated Aug. 7, 1661. "Item I giue and bequeath vnto James Lane brother to the said Job, Tenn pounds of like good money to be paid to him within Six moneths next after my death by myne Executr."-Gen. Reg., Oct., 1890.

In $1665^{-6}$ and probably longer, James Lane was "sergeant of ye companye" and William Haynes "clark of ye band." This trainband, the extent of Westcustigo's early martial glory, was a section of the larger military division of Casco with its less than thirty small houses. Sergeant Lane as chief officer would be armed with halberd, sword and pistol.

At a Court in Casco, July 26, 1666, James Lane was surety under a bond of $£_{170}$, for James Mosier in the settlement of his father, Hugh Mosier's estate, and soon after bought of James and John Mosier, out of the estate, two islands called Great and Little Mosiers.

At the same Court James Robinson, cooper, of Black Point, was indicted, 29 July, 1666, for the murder of Christopher Collins of the same place. The case was comnitted to James Lane of Westcustigo, with seventeen others, "the jury of Life and Death," who found that "said Collings was slain by misadventure and culpable of his own death." Jurymen were "freemen" with the prerogatives of that title.
The name of James Lane appears in connection with presentments and indictments by the Grand Jury at Casco, 1 Oct., 1667. "We present John Mosier for travelling upon the Sabbath day, fined 5s., officers fees 5 s. This ios. to be forthwith paid; and if afterwards by 2 evidences he can make it out that upon the Sabbath he traveled purposely, as he pretends, to look after Mr. Lane who that day, as the said Mosier pretended, was in danger of being drowned, then the said Mosier is to have his ios. returned to him again."

James Lane of Westcustigo with eight neighbors petitioned, Apr. 26, 1668, ''ye Honord Generall Court of his maiesties Collonee of ye Massachusetts Bay att Boston" to be taken under the government of Mass. He purchased estate of John Cleaves, May I5, I673.
"I John Sears (Cleaves) resident in the Province of Mayne in New England, Planter, ffor Twenty pounds current money of New England, have sold unto Mr. James Lane of Westgestuggo, All that Ysland commonly known or called by the name of Reddings Island & being on the Eastern side of Mayre Poynt Necke, togeather with all that Prcell of Land lying & being vpon Mare poynt necke, comonly known by the name of Sandy Poynt ... . together with all Marsh & Marsh grounds formerly in the Right & possession of Thomas Redding deceased being Sixty Acers more or lesse, 15 May, i673. Acknowledged 21 June, 1673: In presence of us Ezekiel Carveath, John Lane."- York Co. Records, vol. ii, p. 278.

He also purchased of John Burrell, May 20, 1673, a second farm of sixty acres lying between Royall's river and Cousin's river.

Boundary: 1690, Dec. Io, Deed. '"Joshua Atwater of Boston to Theodosius Moore of the same place, all my lands and house on Westostugo river containing 200 acres bounded east by land of James Lane, west by said river; also 16 acres one mile and a half above my house near James Lane's, being the same land whereon Thomas Redding lived and died."
"Theo. Moore claimes a house and tract of Land lying upon Westcustogo river in Casco Bay containing 2 Hund. acres more or less upland, bounded by the land of James Lane eastward, westward with the same river, North & South with Creeks; together with 16 acres meadow about one Mile & half NorthWest above my Dwelling house next James Lane's Meadow land, which house, upland and Meadow Thomas Reding of late lived upon & died siezed of in his own right. Bott of Joshua Atwater per Deed. Dated io December 1690. Acknowledged Dec. 29 1690.' —Book of Eastern Claims.

Mr. Lane was witness to transfer of land from Ellner Redding widow of Thomas Redding to James Andrews, March io, 1673-4. "James Lane his marke L."

He was living at Westcustigo in 1675 . The deposition of John Lane, July 2, I733, says that "he removed with his father James Lane from Maulden to a Place since called North Yarmouth in Casco Bay and there lived till driven from thence by the Indians in the first warr." This "first warr"' was King Philip's war of 1675 to 1678 . Casco Bay was molested first, in the beginning of September, 1675, when twenty-five harvesters going up the Bay in a sloop and two boats to gather Indian corn were fired upon by Indians but escaped with many wounds and the loss of their freighted boats. Again Sept. 12, 1675, old Mr. Wakely of Casco Bay, his wife, son, daughter-in-law and three grand children were murdered and the house burned. This bloody butchery was succeeded, Aug. 11, 1676, by the attack on Falmouth in which thirtyfour persons were killed or captured, the rest of the inhabitants abandoning the place. Capt. William Hathorne and soldiers never could come up with the Indians and his expedition to Casco Bay was fruitless.-William Hubbard, 1677.

Sergeant James Lane disappeared at this time. He was "killed in a fight with the Indians."

2.

JOHN LANE ${ }^{2}$ (James ${ }^{1}$ ), 1652-1738.
Machigonne, now Portland, Me., was settled first by George Cleaves and Richard Tucker, Mrs. Cleaves and daughter and a servant, in 1633. The settlement was entirely destroyed by the Indians in 1676 , resettled under President Danforth in 1680, and again destroyed by French and Indians in 1690.

John Lane testified, July 2, 1733, that "Fifty-two or three years since he went to live at Falmouth in Casco Bay and there lived till he removed from thence in the 2 d Indian War."-Deposition.

Other records show him at Cape Elizabeth under President

Thomas Danforth in 1680 . Here he married DORCAS WALLIS3, daughter of John ${ }^{2}$ and Mary (Shepard) Wallis.

Nathaniel Wallis ${ }^{1}$ was born in 1632 , a native of Cornwall Co., England. With his son John Wallis he was among the twenty-nine inhabitants of Black Point and Casco, who, July 13, 165S, signed to be joined to Mass. Bay.

John Wallis ${ }^{2}$ had bought his property at Cape Elizabeth in 1667. Record: "Nicho. White sold to John Wallis a plantation at a place comonly called or known by the name of Papoding in Casco Bay, 25 Nov., 1667 , for 24 pounds sterling." In the Indian attack upon Casco Bay, Aug. II, 1675, "Gm Wallis his dwelling & none besides his is burnt; there are of men slain II, of women & children 23 killed & taken." -Thaddeus Clark, If, 6, '76.

Driven away by the Indians in 1675 , Goodman John Wallis returned to Falmouth where he was Selectman in 168 I . Compelled to flee in the second Indian attack, he died at Gloucester, Mass., 23 Sept., 1690. Inventory of his estate, Jan. 29, 1691.

John Lane was living near his father-in-law John Wallis at Purpooduck Point in 1687, and May 26, 1689. King William's war, "the second Indian War" of John Lane's deposition, broke out in 1686.

The Indians alleged grievances of their own. They began reprisals at North Yarmouth by killing cattle and in a few instances persons. Samuel and Henry Lane (see Samuel ${ }^{2}$ (James ${ }^{1}$ ) No. 3), testify to being molested in their house July 26, 16SS. Justice Benjamin Blackman ordered sixteen Indians to be seized and kept under guard at Casco, but others continued to rob and capture the inhabitants. In September, 1689, seven hundred French and Indians attacked the fort at Casco which was successfully defended by Col. Benjamin Church and his forces, and probably saved the Maine settlement from absolute ruin. On May 17, the following year, 1690, an expedition from Quebec dismantled three forts at Falmouth, killed and captured one hundred inhabitants and destroyed the town, The slain had no funeral ceremonies and were left unburied until the next year. After the destruction of Falmouth the eastern plantations were deserted. Maine, a second time, was nearly abandoned of English settlements. The fugitives took refuge first on Jewell's, then on Richmond's island to await earliest transportation, some for Pascataqua, some for Boston and some for Salem. From Casco Bay to Pemaquid not one English plantation remained.

The families of John Wallis and John Lane of Cape Elizabeth and of Samuel Lane of North Yarmouth are found soon at Gloucester, Mass. Here the Lane family gave the name of Lanesville to a village of the town.

John Lane of Ipswich, Mass., Feb. 14, 1694-5, paid 180 pounds current silver money for one acre and a half of land with buildings thereon, to Shoreborn Wilson whose wife Abigail relinquished right of dower; witnessed Mar. 28, 1695. He sold land in Falmouth, Me., to John Arnold, Feb. 11, 1700. He bought land in Gloucester of Nathaniel Day and others, Oct. 5, 1700. He received several grants of land in Gloucester-"swamp land up in the woods with consent of neighbors,'" in 1701; a common right, Mar. 3, $1701-2$; ten acres at Flatstone cove in 1704, where he built his house and to which his own name was subsequently given; and land at Plum cove near his house in 1726. In 1713 he was paid $1 £$, IOs, for killing "a grown wolve."

John Lane also possessed large estates in Maine by inheritance and by purchase. The possessions of his father James Lane at Westcustigo, were mentioned in the boundaries of other lands, Apr. 12, 1680. Molested by the Indians, July 26 and Sept. 13, 1688, they were again mentioned, Dec. 10, 1690. In Jan., 1714-15, John Lane presented claims in his father's name to six several propertys at North Yarmouth and also claimed in his own right fifty or sixty acres at Pond cove, Cape Elizabeth. When in May, 1722, Massachusetts renewed the corporation of North Yarmouth, and when the meetings of proprietors and assignees were transfered from Boston to North Yarmouth, May 16, 1727, the claim of the Lane family as being among the few original proprietors, was still duly recognized.-Sullivan's History of the District of Maine, 1795.

John and Dorcas Lane shared in the division of the Wallis estate at Falmouth, Feb. 19, 1723. Calling himself then of Boston, John Lane conveyed, Mar. 20, 1727, all right, inherited from his mother Sarah (White) Lane, dau. of John White, at Nequasset in Kennebec, purchased by John White and James Phips about 1640, from Edward Bateman, who with John Brown had bought the land from Robin Hood, the Indian chief.

Deed, 1730, June 26. "John Lane son of James Lane, of Gloucester, to Samuel Wait, Joseph Lampson & Josiah Nichols of Malden, a tract of land in North Y'armouth, bounded east by Capt. Thomas' farm, south by the sea, west by Redding's Creek & to head of said creek.

Also, second, a neck of salt marsh on Cousin's River; also first neck on South side of said river; also Lane's Island 30 acres more or less, and first bounded premises more or less.

Also another tract in two parts, containing an island called Arnold's or Moshier's Island.

Also a neck on Chusquiash River, 3 acres more or less.
Also a tract on north side of Saunders Creek and northwest by Cousins' River, alias Little River, and running up northerly to creek joining Henry Daniel's land, 60 acres more or less.

Also tract called Redding Island on east of Mare Point Neck, together with land on said Neck formerly owned by Nicholas White, called Sandy Point, and running from thence to the falls & sooner to Mecoit Bay formerly belonging to Thomas Redding containing 60 acres."

Again 1732, Nov. 26, Aaron Cleveland of Charlestown, Samuel Newhall, Joseph Lamson and Josiah Nichols all of Malden, sold their "right of inheritance to land owned by John Lane late of Casco Bay." - York Co. Deeds.

In consequence of the loss of deeds and evidences of titles by the various inroads of the Indians, great confusion was brought upon the titles to lands in Maine. 'To remedy in a measure this evil, the General Court in 1700 , appointed a commission consisting of seven members to examine claims of persons to lands in the Province. John Lane was accounted among the old Planters of Westcustigo. Briefs of his Eastern claims, his share in the division of the Wallis estate and his five Depositions are here presented.

III. Jostah ${ }^{3}$, m. 15 Jan., 1713 , by Rev. John White, Rachel York. Her father Samuel York had come to Gloucester from Falmouth on the second destruction of that town by the Indians. Josiah Lane was one of three Gloucester fishermen captured by the Indians in the harbor of Owl's Head, Cape Sable, June 2, 1713 .

Deposition: "Then James Davis and Josiah Lane went to set said Indian on shore and to bring off the Englishman [John Sadler], and as soon as they came to the shore, the Indian went out of the canoe; and, as the said Josiah Lane tells me, they went to set the canoe off, but the Indians laid hold of the painter to stop them, and the other two Indians came and laid hold of the painter also, and they hauled the canoe upon shore. With that two of the Englishmen, as namely, James Davis and Josiah Lane, skipt out of the canoe into the water to swim on board. But one of the Indians came into the water and caught said James Davis immediately and brought him on. shore; and the other two Indians went with the canoe after Josiah Lane, and when they came up with him one of the Indians took his hatchet and seemed as if he was going to strike at him but did not, but took hold of him and hauled him on shore; and when they came on shore there were several more Indians that were come out of the bushes with their guns, and when they had got the said three Englishmen together they set them down, as said Josiah Lane informed me, and said they would carry them to Port Royal."-Richard Yorke, Fune 22, 1713.

Josiah Lane bought land of Edward Harraden, July 20, 1716, and seven other purchases appear to be by him from 1729 to 1738. He and wife Rachel were admitted to the church at Annisquam Mar. 8, 1728 . SAMUEL LANE ${ }^{2}$ (James ${ }^{1}$ ), r660-1724. A garrison was built at Royall's river, North Yarmouth, Me., in 1685 , for the accommodation and defense of Samuel Lane, son of James Lane, and his neighbors. In the "second Indian war," with molestation at their house July 26, 1688, and attack on Lane's Island Sept. 13, 1688, the Lane family was driven away and soon joined their friends at Gloucester, Mass.

Case: "Falmouth, Province of Maine, July 27, 16SS, against John Riall of North Yarmouth. Upon grate causes of Suspicion that he have and doe presume to trade with the Indians, a warrent was Ishued ought for the sd Jno Riall to appear before Lifft Conell Tyng, one of the Council, to Answer on his Oath in that Case; & also for Refusing to assist the Constable in the securing of an Indian called Joseph that had made an attack of and abuse unto Henry & Sam Lane.

John Rial was committed to the Constable of North Y'armouth to be transported to Boston to appear before his Excellency the Governour. Edward Tyng one of the Council."

Testimony: Falmouth, Province of Maine, July 2S, 168S. "Samuel & Henry Lane testifieth to being within their house at North Varmouth upon the 26th of July. Towards night there came an Indian man and a Squaw desired that they might sleepe there that night which was granted. The next morning the two Indians went to the water-side and called to some more who had layn on an island and five other Indians came to Lane's house and asked for fire, which being given them they made a small fire near the house. The Lanes fearing the fire might doe damage took the fire away from the Indians and carried it to the water-side and told the Indians to make a fire there and not endanger their house. Then the Indian Joseph fell upon Sam Lane and the said Sam Lane endeavored to defend himself. The Indian Joseph threatened to kill the Lanes' hoggs and did Runne after the hogs with a hatchet. After the Lanes drove off the Indians they immediately complained of them to the Constable."-York County Records.

James Sullivan gives the following account of the Indian attack Sept. 13, 688 :
"That night the Indians went on to an island called 'Lanes Island' where they butchered the unfortunate victims who fell into their hands in the morning, together with another captive whom they had previously taken farther east, in a most savage and cruel manner. Their bodies were found by some of the garrison and buried on the main. Soon after this the garrison removed to Jewel's Island, one of the most distant from the main land in Casco Bay, and built a fort there to secure themselves till they could return to Massachusetts. Not long after the building of the fort, it was attacked by a large party of Indians from the main; but was resolutely defended until many of the Indians being killed, the others thought proper to leave the island. A vessel soon after took the inhabitants off the island and conveyed them to Boston, in which and its neighborhood they disposed themselves. And thus the settlement of North Varmouth was entirely broken up at this time.' -Hist. Dist. of Maine, 1795.

Samuel Lane was a blacksmith by trade. He was of Salem, Mass., June 6, 1696, when he paid 25 pounds to Samuel Sibley of Salem, cooper, his wife Mary consenting, for "dwelling house, barns and orchards with four acres of land," the deed witnessed June 25, 1696. He soon fixed his residence near his brother, John Lane, at Flatstone Cove, Gloucester, Mass. He received a grant of land from Gloucester in 1708; bought lands in Gloucester of Nathaniel Sargent Mar. 2, 1714, and of Timothy Somers Mar. 2, 1714; sold land to Samuel Lane, Jr., Jan. 19, I 724.

The church in Annisquam Parish, Gloucester, Mass., being gathered and incorporated by Rev. John White, chose Benịamin Bradstreet pastor, who, with ten other persons, publicly owned the covenant in 1728 . Three of these eleven original members were the three Lane brothers, Samuel, John and James.

Samuel Lane died at Lanesville, Mass., 30 Dec., 1724 , æ. above sixty years. He had wife ABIGAIL ——, who was admitted to the church at Annisquam Jan. 28, 730.

JOB LANE ${ }^{2}$ (James ${ }^{1}$ ), $1667-1744$, a mason by trade ; driven from Maine by the Indians, he settled with kindred at Billerica, Mass., about 1700 , was founder of the second Lane family in Bedford, Mass., and known in the records of his generation as Job Lane, Sr.

He bought of Caleb Farley, Jr., Apr. 6, 1700 , a house and fifty acres of land south of the Winthrop Purchase, and other lands of Fitz-John Winthrop July 3I, 1703. He was allowed by the town of Billerica two lots of 93 and 40 acres in 1708. In March, 1727, he exchanged his house and 50 acres of land with Christopher Page for a house and 150 acres near Shawshine river, and removed to the east part of Bedford, where he was innkeeper to his death. Other purchases of real estate were made by him Oct. 21, 1737, and Jan. 28, 1740.

He sold lands to T. Waite Feb. 13, 1705, to C. Farley Apr. II, 1706, to J. Mudge Jan. 28, 1707, to F. Wyman July 15, 1719.

Copy, deed, Fuly 15, 1719. "Job Lane and Mary his wife of Billerica, Mass., convey to Francis Wyman of Woburn, Mass., all right and title to lands which formerly belonged to my father James Laine deceased, lying in Casco Bay, containing a neck of land lying between Cousins his River and Harriseekett; also an island lying over against s i-land called Long Island, one seventh of the above described land being what he intend, to convey." - Fork Co. Records.

The eldest son of a person who died inte-tate received two shares in the estate. Job Lane receiving "one seventh" proves that his father James Lane had six children.

Other sales of lands were made by Job Lane to A. Brown Dec. 12, 1720, to J. Blood Aug. 8, 1727, to J. Marhall Nov. 13, 1732, to II. French, Jr., Apr. 2, 1735, to J. Paige Fel. 7, 1737, to T. Waite Mar. 2S, 1737, to \%. Whiting Mar. 3I, 1740, to J. Lane, 3d, Apr. 16, 1742; his cotate to J. Mudge, Nov. 17, 1743 .

Job Lane was a sollier in Major John Iane's Indian scout, i 706. He was credited Jan. 20, 1730 , with gift of money to incouragement for the town of Bedford in the year 1729 . He died in Sept., $17+4$, æ. 77 yrs. His wife was MAKI FASSE'TV², dau. of Patrick ${ }^{1}$ and Sarah Fassett of Malden and Billerica, Mass. GIDEON LANE ${ }^{4}$ (Joseph ${ }^{3}$, John², James ${ }^{1}$ ), rif3 ${ }^{2}$ - Sir $^{3}$, was bap. at Annisquam, Gloucester, Mass., 19 Mar., $1737-8$. He ent. int. of m. 21 Jan., and m. 23 Feb., 1763 , by Rev. Ebenezer Cleaveland, MARY BABSON. Both were bap. if Apr., 1773, and united with the church in Annisquam, 23 May, 1773 . She d. of consumption, 8 Jan., 1779 , æ. $3+$ years, a great aunt of John J. Babson, the historian of Gloucester. He m. second, 25 Mar., r780, by Rev. Eli Forbes, widow LYDIA GATEWOOD.

Mr. Lane probably located at Porridge Hill in Dogtown, Gloucester, where the well is still shown. His daughter Mrs. Asa Woodbury is remembered to have said that she was born there. But he soon settled at Lobster cove. Gideon Lane and Gideon Lane, Jr., made many purchases of land in Gloucester from ${ }^{1773}$ to 1799 . Tradition connects the father with the exploits of the English sloop of war "Falcon" which had aided the British at the battle of Bunker Hill. The vessel made her appearance in Ipswich Bay, Aug. 5, 1775. Capt. Lindsay despatched a barge with 50 men on shore to seize a supply of sheep from the adjacent pastures. Repulsed in this attempt, the barge was next ordered to Squam Harbor to capture Capt. Lane's deeply laden schooner, supposed by Lindsay to be a West Indiaman. Upon boarding the craft, she was found to be laden with nothing but sand. Disappointed again in seizing what he supposed to be a valuable cargo of West Indian products, Capt. Lindsay continued his depredations in adjacent parts. He bombarded for several hours the town of Gloucester, Aug. 8, 1775. The fire of the "Falcon" was directed principally upon the meeting-house and caused considerable damage to the building. Capt. Joseph Rogers with his company of minute men, aided by Col. Joseph Foster, met the enemy, captured four boats, a small tender, a prize schooner, and forty men, and compelled the "Falcon" to withdraw.

A company under Capt. John Lane had been stationed all summer somewhere on Cape Ann, for the defense of the sea coast. But Capt. John Lane does not appear to have been engaged in the affair with Lindsay and therefore probably was not near the scene of action. In September this company was supplied with wood and barracks by the town. It suffered in some degree from the non-payment of wages, but in November was allowed to draw clothing from the public stores.-7. F. Babson.

Capt. Gideon Lane removed to Casco Bay, Me., about ${ }_{17}$ So. Harraseeket, the northeast part of ancient North Yarmouth and Grout's Gore were incorporated as the town of Freeport, Me., Feb. 14, 1789. Capt. Lane settled on Pleasant Hill near Mast Landing. He paid Ozias Blanchard, Esq., and others $$ 200.00$, June 23, I 800 , for 50 acres of land, the northerly half of Lot 39, Range E, in Freeport, formerly included in No. Varmouth. He and wife Lydia sold 12 i-2 acres of this lot for $$ 500.00$ to his son Peter Lane of Freeport, May 2, 1803; the remainder and another lot he sold to Gideon Lane, Jr., of Gloucester, mariner, for $$ 800.00$, June 25, 1813. He bought of Thomas Burrell, Nov. 5, 1801, 34 acres of land in Freeport, an undivided half of Lot 39, Range E, with half of house and half of barn thereon; this estate he and wife sold to Peter Lane for $$ 400.00$, May 7, i8o3. He and wife, Lydia, sold 12 acres and 128 rods of lot No. 39, Range E, in Freeport, to Joshua Webb for $153.60, May 24, 1808.

Capt. Gideon Lane d. at Pleasant Hill, Freeport, Me., 6 Oct., 1813, æ. 76 years.

Lydia Lane, widow, quit claim to Thomas Bicknell for $$ 20.00$, Mar. if i 1817, all right of dower in certain lands in Freeport.

BENJAMIN LANE ${ }^{4}$ (Benj. ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), $1727-1805$, b. Gloucester, Mass.. 23 Nov., 1727 ; entered intention of m. 28 Oct., 1749, with HANNAH LANE ${ }^{4}$ (Samuel ${ }^{3.2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ). He bought land in Gloucester, Mass., $175^{2}$, and removed to New Gloucester, Me., 1770, where he again ent. int. of m., 23 Sept., 1780 , with Mrs. SARAH POOL, who d. 30 Mar., 1840 , æ. 82 years.

Many Gloucester families perpetuated the name of the home they left, in the town of New Gloucester on Royal's river in Maine. The first meeting of the sixty Gloucester proprietors was Apr. 27, 1736, and the same year, Mass. Gen. Court granted them a township six miles square. Pioneers located first in present Gorham and Gray, Me. Others selected a site further to the northwest which the Gen. Court confirmed to them, July 5, 1737, and to which a road was brushed out, on the east side of Royal's river from Cousin's river in North Yarmouth. The proprietors met again in Feb., 1738, set apart three lots for public purposes, divided sixty lots among themselves and provided for building a saw mill on "Stevens Brook", within two years, calling the township New Gloucester. The settlement began in the spring of 1739 . Families of settlers were brought from Mass. to North Yarmouth by a vessel in the fall of 1742 , and from thence poled up Royal's river on rafts to the great bridge, but the governor ordered the settlers off on account of Indian troubles in 1744 to 1749 . The permanent settlement at New Gloucester dates from 1756. In 1758 a grist mill was completed in connection with the saw mill. In 1760 , the mills were moved to the great falls on Royal's river. Their block house became to them a home, a fort, a church. The church was organized and Rev. Samuel Foxcroft, ordained, Jan. I6, 1765. It was reported that they had "a jolly ordination and lost sight of decorum." In I 770 sixty-one persons subscribed to build a meeting-house but the town languished till its incorporation, Sept. 7, 774.

Benjamin Lane bought of Peter Graffan, Sept. in in70, the 60 acre lot No. 60 in the supplement to Division 2, New Gloucester, on which he settled. The same year Benjamin Lane, Ebenezer Lane and Daniel Lane subscribed Io pounds each toward building the meeting-house. Benjamin Lane paid Micah Walker of Bakerstown, 5 pounds, Jan. S, 1782 , for 'the floor or ground Pew number five in the meeting House in New Gloucester, being the most Easterly Corner Pew." He was party to conveyance of land, Feb. S, i782, Nov. 25, 1788, June 4, and June 25, 1790. He died about ISo5.-Cumb. Co. Deeds.

DANIEL LANE ${ }^{4}$ (Samuel ${ }^{3.2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), was born in Gloucester, Mass., and baptized 5 Jan., ${ }^{\text {r }} 734-5$. He entered intention of marriage, 14 Sept., and m. ${ }^{17}$ Sept., 1761 , MARY LANE, by Rev. Ebenezer Cleaveland of the Fifth parish, Gloucester. Daniel Lane was a blacksmith by trade and moved to New Gloucester, Me., where, in 1770 , he subscribed $£$ io towards building the meeting-house, and where with wife, Mary, he sold to Joseph Lane, Jr., of Gloucester, Mass., for $£ 30$, 3,4 , Jan. r, 1772 , sixty acre lot, No. 5, in supplement to 2 d Division, New Gloucester. He was of Bakerstown, Me., Aug. 18, 1773, and bought of Samuel Gerrish of Newbury, Mass., one-half of a hundred acre lot, No. 68, upon Little Androscoggin river. He was the second settler in Minot, Me., 773.

Daniel Lane entered the Naval service from Gloucester, Mass., as a privateer in the war of the Revolution and was taken captive to England. When sick on board the ship Buford of 70 guns, he was ordered by its humane British commander, George Bowyers, Feb. 15, 1777, to be transfered to the royal hospital, Plymouth, England, and remained in hospital from April I, to May 7, 1777.-Gen. Reg. 32:43, 74. The crew of sloop Charming Polly was captured, May 16, 1777, and committed to Mill Prison in Plymouth harbor, and Daniel Lane was reported "escaped." Capt. John Lane sailed from Newburyport, Mass., in the brigantine Fancy, and was captured by the British, Aug. 7, 1777, his crew committed to prison and Daniel Lane was "exchanged." Among the prisoners remaining in Old Mill, Feb. 7, I779, were Capt. John Lane and Daniel Lane, who was transfered to Forten Gaol about one mile out of Portsmouth, England, Apr. 19, 1779, and reported "dead." Tradition relates how Daniel Lane dug out of prison under ground of the street and was given a shirt by a friendly Englishman, in which he escaped and was afterwards robed for burial. Joseph Applely of Rowley, Mass., was a soldier in Capt. Daniel Lane's company, Col. Brooks' 7th Regiment Continental Army pay accounts for service from Feb. 28, 1778 , to Dec. 3 I , 1779.

After his service in the Revolution, Mr. Lane was styled "Captain" and returned to his family at Leeds, Me. Here he sold the Gerrish place, May $\mathbf{2}$, 1781, to John Platt of Andover Mass.-Cumbb. Co. Deeds.

He was a remarkably fine workman in iron and wood, and some nicely constructed scales made by him were stored in the attic of his son, Peter Lane's house, as late as 1820 . His widow died at the home of their son, Peter, her honey-dish on the top shelf of the cupboard being the source of many sweet lunches for the grandchildren. Five sons settled on adjoining farms on the west side of Androscoggin Lake and a sixth son, the next Range south.

LEVI LANE, Esq. ${ }^{5}$ (Josiah ${ }^{4}$, James ${ }^{3}$, John², James ${ }^{1}$ ), ${ }^{175 \dagger^{-}}$ 1806, was born at Annisquam, 3 Nov., and bap. at Bay View, Gloucester, Mass., io Nov., r754. He and his cousin, Nicholas Lane $^{5}$ (William², James ${ }^{3}$, John², James ${ }^{1}$ ), served apprenticeship together as sailmakers.

Levi Lane was a soldier under Capt. Nathaniel Warner at the battle of Bunker Hill. Capt. Warner's company marched from Gloucester to Cambridge in the latter part of May. On the morning of the attack by the British forces, the company made a rapid march to Charlestown, crossed the peninsula under fire, and was ordered by Gen. Israel Putnam to the redoubt and then to the left towards the rail fence.-7. F. Babson.
While still a young man, Mr. Lane visited France and returned in company with Marquis de Lafayette, who came to join the American Colonies in the spring of 1777 . He was a member of St. Andrew's Lodge of Free Masons, and there was forwarded to him from France "a blue pitcher with gold letters, with his own name and that of all the prominent members of the lodge and fraternity, etc.'"-Abigrail Perry.

Mr. Lane's place of business as a sailmaker and merchant was near Clinton street, Boston, Mass. "He was a sailmaker of wide repute, made the best sails that went out of Boston, made sails for my great grandfather, John Browne of Providence, R. I., who was a noted merchant in his day whose ships sailed all over the world."—Leizis Herreshoff.
He became a leading merchant and shipowner, losing some vessels about r Soo, by French spoliation. He was a pew owner and prominently connected with the First Universalist church at the corner of North Bennett and Hanover streets with his residence on Pine street, Boston. He was allowed claims against the estate of Solomon Lane, Gloucester, Nov. 5, 1799, and was party to two transfers of real estate in Cumberland Co., Me., 1798-1800.

Levi Lane, Esq., entered intention of marriage with ELIZABETH GYLES of Boston, May r, 1778 ; she died the same Tuesday in April, 1795, with her mother, the widow Mary (Maverick) Giles, a descendant of Samuel Maverick the grantee of Noddle's Island. Six weeks after the death of his first wife, Mr. Lane m. second, SUSANNAH (Newman) LANE, the widow of Master Oliver Wellington Lane ${ }^{5}$ (James ${ }^{4.3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, Job ${ }^{1}$ ). Levi Lane d. 23 June, 1806, and was buried at Copps Hill, Boston, where his stone may be seen, i899. His widow, Susanna Lane, administered on his estate. Inventory $$ 19,406.90$, comprised mansion-house on Pine street, three dwelling houses, blacksmith's shop, cooper's shop, large store and wood wharf, near Fish street, pew in First Universalist church and 75 acres of land in Augusta, Me.

Susanna (Newman) Lane brought into Levi Lane's family four children by Oliver Wellington Lane, and she had four children by Levi Lane. This is especially noted in order to distinguish her children by each marriage. Her estate was settled in Suffolk Probate Court in 1842 . Her heirs appear to have been Mary W. Clark, Susan N. Buffum and Hannah (Lane) Braynard. The names of children, John, Harriet and Francis, do not appear in the probate papers; they had died.

Capt. FRANCIS LANE (Josiah ${ }^{4}$, James ${ }^{3}$, John², James ${ }^{1}$ ), 1756-1829, was bap. at Annisquam, Gloucester, Mass., i 2 Dec., 1756 .

He enlisted in Capt. John Rowe's Co. of Gloucester minute men under Col. Ebenezer Bridge and marched to Bunker Hill in season to take an active part in the great engagement of June 17, 1775. Returning to Gloucester, he entered the service on board of a privateer, and at the close of the war received his share in several prizes he had aided in capturing. He studied navigation and, subsequently master of a vessel, sailed for several years as far as the East Indies and many times to the West Indies and was once wrecked on Sable Island where he remained all winter to recover the cargo of cotton which had sunk in the ship. He afterward coasted between Boston and Portland, Me., for many years. The house he occupied at Bay View has been the homestead of the Jones family for more than a century ( 1884 ).

Capt. Francis Lane, m. first, by Rev. Obadiah Parsons, 25 Feb., 1779, ESTHER GRIFFIN; she bap. 6 Sept., 176i, dau. of Samuel and Mary (York) Griffin of Gloucester, from Newbury, Mass. They moved to North Yarmouth, Me., where Mrs. Lane sacrificed her life and d. 31 Aug., 1799, æ. 38 years, in taking care of a neighbor sick with the yellow fever. The neighbor recovered, but Mrs. Lane died, while her dau. Mary took the fever and never fully recovered. Mrs. Lane was buried in the old cemetery at North Yarmouth.

She was descended from Philip Griffin, the ancestor of the numerous and influential Gloucester family. Mary Griffin m. William Babson and was the mother of Hon. John J. Babson, the historian of Gloucester. The Annisquam church records say of Samuel Griffin, "He was a member of the church many years and was well esteemed. He was firm and unshaken in the doctrines of free grace in an exalted Divine Redeemer and Saviour."

Capt. Lane m. second, 8 July, 1800, Mrs, HANNAH WYMAN of North Yarmouth. She was the 38 ist member of the First church in North Yarmouth and joined by public profession of faith, July 24, 1791. They moved to a farm at Minot Corner, Me., and in June, 1818 , to South Paris, Me. She died in 1820 , æ. 65 years. He was published, io Nov., and m. third, 5 Dec., 1822 , widow BETSEY GAMMON of South Paris, who died 31 Mar., 1825 , æ. 63 years.

Francis Lane of North Yarmouth, sold to Jabez Cushman for $$ 500.00$, Jan. 16, 1802, 64 acres and 93 rods in the 281 squadron No. 9 in the gore, "the place where I now live." He paid Ichabod Benson, $$ 330.00$, Apr. 27, I802, for 50 acres of land, Lot 78 , in Minot. Francis Lane of Minot and Hannah Lane his wife in her right, sold to Leonard P. Woodlbury for $$ 475$.oo, June 26, 1818, Lot 78 in Minot with the buildings thereon. He was party to sale of real estate eight times between 1801 and 1818.-Cumb. Co. Records.

Capt. Lane had a strong attachment for the place of his nativity and visited Gloucester on a fishing trip every season, Aug. to Nov., till a short time before his death, at the house of his dau., Mrs. Susan Ripley, 30 Nov., 1829 , æ. 73 years. He was rather small in stature with light complexion, blue eyes and delicate constitution,soldier, scholar and gentleman. With his last two wives he was buried in the Robinson neighborhood near South Paris, Me. The grave of this soldier and pensioner of the Revolution, unmarked and forgotten for many years, was at length discovered and marked by a suitable marble headstone with appropriate inscriptions by his grandson, Samuel Richards, Jr., at his own expense, he "not thinking it right to have a soldier of Bunker Hill sleep in a lost and forgotten grave."

GIDEON LANE 2d5, (Gideon ${ }^{4}$, Joseph ${ }^{3}$, John², James ${ }^{1}$ ) ${ }^{1764-}$ 1821, was born in Gloucester, Mass., i4, and bap. at Annisquam, ${ }_{16}$ Dec., ${ }^{1764}$. He was born on the east side of Lobster core, but bought and moved his family to the large, double, two story house still standing near the west end of the bridge over Lobster cove in Annisquam.

British armed barges came into Squam river in $18_{1} 3$ to destroy what shipping they could find. Capt. Lane had a schooner called "Federalist" lying at the wharf below his house. A barge came into Lobster cove intending to destroy her. When preparing to set her on fire, Capt. Lane's daughter, Clara, then 17 years of age, went from the house and requested them not to destroy the vessel. The lieutenant in command looked at Miss Lane a few moments and then declared "he could not resist answering the prayer of such a pretty lass and would leave the vessel unmolested." And the barge returned to their vessels outside, without any further damage to property here. That was the last visit armed barges made in Annisquam river. - George Ediuard Lane.

Gideon Lane, Jr., of Gloucester, mariner, paid Gideon Lane of Freeport, Me., $$ 800.00$, June 25, ISI3, for land including the northwest part of Lot 39, Range E, in Freeport.

Administration on his estate was granted to Samuel Lane, Esq., Apr. 5, 1825; inventory July 19, 1825 ; allowance to widow, Hannah Lane, Jan. i2, i826; dower set off, Oct. 5, i830.
obituary.
"Died in Gloucester on Wednesday morning last, Capt. Gideon Lane, aged 57 years, after a long and distressing illness which he endured with remarkable fortitude and patience. An affectionate remembrance of the worthy man will ever be cherished by his relations and friends. His moral character was unexceptionable and he was distinguished for his diligence and activity in business. When in health his cheerful and social disposition never failed to render him an acceptable companion in the circle of his friends and acquaintances.

In the death of Capt. Lane the society in which he lived, and his friends in particular, have sustained an irreparable loss. He was a kind and affectionate husband, a tender and indulgent father. He was fondly attached to life and had an earnest desire to recover from his illness, but still, when he became sensible that his case was hopeless, he expressed a perfect resignation to the Divine Will, and died in a comfortable hope of a happy immortality. We trust he is now rejoicing in the possession of perfect purity and bliss; while he has left behind that which is better than precious ointment 'a good name.' Peace be to his memory.' - Rev. Eara Learned.

GIDDINGS LANE ${ }^{5}$ (Daniel ${ }^{4}$, Samuel ${ }^{3.2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), r 770 - 1836 , was born New Gloucester, Me., 5, bap. 14 May, 1770 , took up woodland in Littleboro, afterwards Leeds, Me., which has never been sold out of the family and where his grandsons, Cyrus B. and Gustavas W., now live. He m. 6 Sept., 1788 , JEMIMA NOR-RIS; she b. 30 Oct., 1770 , dau. of Samuel and Lydia (Washburn) Norris.

Lydia Washburn was dau. of Ephraim and Mary Washburn, and is thought to have been a Mayflower descendant through John Winslow, Mary and James Chilton.

Four sons of Samuel Norris sailed from Sandwich, Mass., to the Androscoggin river in the ship "Sandwich Harbor." The father and sons settled at a place first called New Sandwich, but changed to Wayne, Feb. 12, 1798, in honor of Gen. Anthony Wayne.

Mr. Lane was a large man and his wife a small but very smart woman. When five years old, she attended with her parents, a reception to Gen. George Washington. At the age of eighteen, she knit herself a pair of stockings from sun to sun, and spent the day in visiting. When her husband cleared up wild land, she drove the oxen to plough the first furrow. Surprised by Indian alarms, she burned her featherbed to keep the savages from coming down the chimney. She and her children were great singers, one or more of the family sitting in the choir for many years. Mother, daughter and grandson have sung together in public celebrations. The singing school always met in her living room. Sitting in the corner knitting and without a book, she could learn the tunes better than others with books. She died 14 Apr., 1865, the day President Abraham Lincoln was assassinated.

The first Baptist meetings in Leeds, 1794 to I 800, were held in Mr. Lane's barn, then new. He gave the land for their meeting-house and boarded two workmen while it was building, to June, 1800 . When the First Baptist church of sixteen members was organized, July 2, I8oo, Mr. and Mrs. Lane were received to membership and he chosen deacon. Every Sunday a general invitation was given to all the congregation to partake of his hospitality, and tables were spread in his shed for all who would stay at noon. The brothers, Daniel, James and Giddings Lane, were corporate members of the Baptist society, June 23, 1804. Dea. Giddings Lane owned the first carriage and the first set of china in Leeds, and at death was the richest man in town. He died 29 Jan., I 836 .

OBITUARY OF IDEACON GIDDINGS LANE.

"Died in Leeds on the 29th ult. Dea. Giddings Lane, aged 62 yrs. and 5 ms . Dea. Lane became a member of the Baptist church in Leeds at its organization in June, i800. He was then invested with the office of deacon, the duties of which he faithfully discharged until prevented by age and sickness. In his Christian course, he always cherished unyielding attachment to the truth, and being possessed of a sound and discriminating mind, he was able to detect the slightest deviation from the rules and requirements of the gospel. In church government he was mild and compassionate, but firm and persevering. In the sanctuary his seat was sure to be filled; he did not sit in cool, critical speculation, but received the message in sincerity and with a view to honor God. His approbation of the truth was sometimes evinced by an expressive smile. In the absense of a minister he often had some interesting sermon which he read, much to the edification of his hearers. During the week he seemed delighted to visit and to receive Christian company. His home was ever open to the friends of Christ, and his conversation was eminently instructive. Many a young Christian has gone to him with doubts and perplexities which he has removed.

Dea. Lane did much for the cause of morality and religion. He has labored much, he has sacrificed much, and in him the church and society at Leeds sustain a great loss. But we trust that our loss is his gain, for in his last moments he exemplified the truth of the Scripture, 'Mark the perfect man and behold the upright, for the end of that man is peace.' ", Capt. GIDEON LANE, $2 \mathrm{~d}^{6}$, (G̣ideon ${ }^{5.4}$, Joseph ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, James ${ }^{1}$,) $1791-1865$, b. Annisquam, Mass., 3 1 Aug., 1790 , a successful ship builder and master, lived in Boston, Annisquam and Chelsea, Mass.

A party of ladies on board the sloop "Hebe" were very much alarmed when the wind arose in Annisquam River. Capt. Lane's mother was on board and tried to calm their fears by telling them that as long as Gideon was at the helm, there was no danger. This confidence in the seamanship of her son became a standing joke upon the lady for a long time.

Capt. Lane m. first, 30 Jan., 1817 , DORCAS, dau. of William BABSON, who was b. 14 Aug., i793, and d. i6 Oct., 1817.
"Blest be thy rest, fair dweller of the sky,
Belov'd thou liv'd, lamented thou didst die;
Thy heart was goodness and thy soul was truth,
Now blooms in heaven with an immortal youth;
Soon we shall meet thee on that blissful shore,
Of peace and joy, to part again no more."
$\quad$-Old Parish Burying Ground, Annisyuam.
He m. second, i821, ELIZA HARPER PEABODY of Bucksport, Me., dau. of Asa and Elizabeth Harper Peabody.

Capt. Lane was allowed a claim against his father's estate, Jan. 17, 1826, and the same year came from Boston to Gloucester Harbor, in the fishing schooner "Patriot," and to Annisquam in a wagon. He settled permanently at Annisquam, in 1827, and the "Patriot" landed his furniture at the wharf below his house. The post office was first located at the head of Lobster cove, near the church on the corner, where Mrs. Maria Lane had her flower garden in I8S9. Annisquam was then the most flourishing part of Gloucester. Vessels of good reputation were then built at 'Squam. Capt. Lane caught the building mania, and in $182 S$ he launched a schooner of 90 tons, called the "St. Thomas," of which Capt. David Lane took charge. In 1831, he launched the ship "Gloucester," of 348 tons, of which Capt. Oliver Griffin Lane took the command. This vessel was wrecked near Sydney, Cape Breton, about 1843 . About $1831-33$, there was a large fleet of vessels fitting out and mostly owned here. Capt. Lane reported that at one time there were in the harbor 65 fishing vessels of different kinds, 6 coasters and 2 or 3 vessels that went trading "Down East." The mill dam across Goose creek was built in IS34. Capt. Lane and William Hodgkins were owners in the saw and grain mill erected there. The property is owned by grandsons of Mr. Hodgkins, in 1898. The chief cause of the decline in the shipping interests of Annisquam was the money panic of 1837 , when President Jackson vetoed the re-chartering of the U. S. Banks.-George Edzward Lane.

Capt. Lane was selectman of Gloucester, 1830 , '31, '32, '52, '53, and representative, 1833 and 1834 . He d. at Chelsea, Mass., 13 Aug., 1865 , æ. 73 yrs., ir ms. His widow d. 15 May, i875, æ. 72 yrs., $10 \mathrm{ms}$.25 ds . They were buried at Annisquam.

III. Dorcas Babsoni, b. Feb., 1824, d. i3 Dec., i824, æ. ıо months.
IV. Gideon Oscar7, b. i 6 Nov., i826, d. Chelsea, Mass., unm., 6 July, i869, æ. 42 yrs., 7 ms., 20 ds. Buried at Annisquam.

Capt. Gideon Oscar Lane's first voyage as master was in the barque "Arctic." From 1859 to 1862 , he sailed in the ship "Martha." From 1862 to 1864, he commanded the ship "Templar," of Boston. In i 865 , he became master of the barque "Behring," in which he made his last voyage.

Capt. Lane was an honorable representative of American shipmasters, intelligent, prompt, enterprising and faithful to his trust, having the entire confidence of his "owners," and winning the esteem of all with whom he dealt. He was an example of that high-mindedness, patience and moral heroism which always secures the safest results in business and the favor of all true men. More than all, he exemplified the truth that, amid the severer duties of life and the stern tasks of the sea, the gentler virtues that win the home and cheer social existence, need not be clouded, but may grow brighter by the wear of time and the hazards of an exposed life. Capt. Lane made the entire circuit of the globe twenty-five times, crossed the equator sixty times, and in all his voyages sailed 630,000 statute miles.

Capt. Lane's death was "attributed to blood poisoning created by the gases arising from a cargo of nitrate of soda. This gas has been pronounced to be of a very poisonous nature and one for which no antidote is known. Some means should be found to prevent the danger arising from this service."

OLIVER GRIFFIN LANE ${ }^{6}$, (Gideon ${ }^{5.4}$, Joseph ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), ${ }^{1798-1867}$, b. 25 Nov., ${ }^{1798 \text {, named after his grand- }}$ father, Oliver Griffin; a sea captain of Annisquam, Mass. He entered upon ship building with his brother, Capt. Gideon Lane, and William Hodgkins, by whom many vessels were fitted out for mackerel fishing at Goose and Lobster coves, but soon followed an active sea-faring life. In i83I, he took command of the ship "Gloucester," 348 tons burden, and sailed to New Orleans, where he took on board a cargo of cotton for Havre, France. This vessel was wrecked near Sidney, Cape Breton, about 1843.

The church in Annisquam was reorganized in the Universalist faith in 181I, and the meeting house was rebuilt in, i813. The pews were prized and persons bid for a choice. Oliver G. Lane paid $$ 100$ for first choice, and selected an undesirable corner pew on the right of the pulpit. Samuel Lane bid for second choice, and selected the pew in the opposite corner. Gideon Lane bid for third choice and still selected an undesirable pew.

Capt. Oliver G. Lane m. io Dec., 1822 , CHARLOTTE PHIPPEN' of Salem, Mass., and d. 17 Jan., 1867, æ. 68 ýrs., if ms., 23 ds. Monument at Oak Grove cemetery. Mrs. Lane, b. Beverly, Mass., 13 Aug., i 800, d. 2 I Sept., i886, æ. 86 yrs., i mo., 8 ds .

Mrs. Charlotte (Phippen) Lane belonged to one of the staid families peculiar to ancient Salem. She accompanied her husband on several yoyages, sajling to Europe, South America, and around Cape Horn to California. She was closely identified with the Universalist church at Annisquam, and when the Sunday School was organized she was among its earliest teachers. She possessed a very remarkable memory, which she retained to the last, and would give facts and recall dates when others were in doubt. "A kind friend and neighbor, of generous heart and worthy motives."

ANNISQUAM.

Birthday Surprise Party.-Tuesday evening, Feb. 20, 1883, being the fiftieth anniversary of the birthday of Miss C. A. Lane, some of her friends arranged a surprise party, and about one hundred guests, including young and old, assembled at her home to do honor to the occasion. About 8 o'clock quite a delegation arrived from the city proper, helping to fill the spacious rooms, and many and earnest were the greetings given Miss Lane from friends and relatives who know and appreciate her many excellent traits of character. Beautiful flowers lent an added charm to the scene, and some admirable songs from Mr. H. H. Bennett were warmly applauded. Some of the elder ones joined in dancing the Virginia Reel, while Miss Helen Lane played the piano, and Miss Lane led off the figure; those looking on said it was performed well. Refreshments were served at io o'clock, after which an original poem written for the occasion by Mr. Geo. F. Griffin, was read, as follows:-

Fifty long years have passed away, And life's meridian sun Shines brightly on thy path to-day, While still thou seemest young.

Thy natal month in robes of white
Is emblematic of thy life;
'Neath snowy mantle hid from sight
Lie germs with richest beauty rife.
And in thy heart are garnered treasures
Which twine around thy dear old home,
Blessing the loved ones there with pleasures, Forgetting not dear ones who roam.

Like the green ivy softly twining
Through ruins desolate and gray, Thou would'st o'er all who are repining

Spread the fair garb of charity.
In the blue azure skies above
Bright stars of Hope and Faith e'er shine, And in the generous heart true love

Cannot grow old, but lives through time.
The sun and shade of fifty years,
Have fallen on thy peaceful brow, With times of sunshine, smiles and tears-

We would not trace them now.

For dear friends gathered, in the light
Of this your festal day,
Would banish every care from sight
And make the winter seem like May.
We may not shield thine onward path
From storms about thee driven;
But for the darkest days life hath, We pray that strength be given.
What'er the future years contain, Wherever we may be, We ever dear shall hold thy name, And e'er remember thee.
And may the memories of this day, Cluster around thine heart;
And pleasant recollections stay With us, and ne'er depart.

The company dispersed at 12 o'clock, all agreeing it had been a very pleasant occasion. Mrs. J. A. Cunningham, a sister of Miss Lane, was present and in her kindly manner did much to make every one happy.-Cape Ann Alvertiser.

William F. Lane, Mrs. A. Maria Lane and Miss Charlotte A. Iane were appointed, Aug. I, i891, on a committee of repairs on the old meeting house in Annisquam. The communion table was given by Mrs. A. Maria Lane, the collection pouches, by Mrs. William F. Lane, the pulpit lamps by Miss Julia Lane and committee on fair. The re-dedication took place June 9, 1892 . Miss Bertha A. Lane was alto singer. Miss Charlotte A. Lane wrote the Historical Sketch of the Parish, which was read by William F. Lane. The original church covenant had been signed 164 years previous [1728], by 11 members, all males, among whom were Samuel Lane, John Lane and James Lane. Samuel Lane, Esq., was the first superintendent of the Sunday School. The Historical Sketch closed with the following original poem :-

[^6]O, church of our mothers, may your spirit increase, Till all of their children shall find release
From sin and from sorrows that checquer life's way, Growing purer and fairer unto life's perfect day.

O, God of all churches, in Thy infinite care,
O, keep and protect us, and each soul prepare
For the higher life which the angels have known,
And to meet all the loved ones in thy kingdom, 'called home.' "'

OBITUARY.

> "Capt. Gustavus A. Lane died at his home on Granite Street, yesterday, [Nov. S, is94], after a long and trying illness. He belonged to an old Gloucester family, being a son of Capt. Gustavus and Clarissa Lane of Annisquam, where he was born and spent his early life. Coming from a family of sea captains, he entered upon a sea-faring career, and soon rose to the rank of captain, making many foreign voyages, being for a while, however, in an interval of his experience at sea, employed in the granite business at Pigeon Cove. He was a man of fine character and attractive qualities, and had the public sympathy in the serious illness which compelled his retirement from active service in the prime of life."—Gloucester Daily Transcript, Nov: 9, 1897.

Hon. EBENEZER LANE ${ }^{6}$ (Ebenezer ${ }^{5.4}$, Job ${ }^{3}$, John ${ }^{2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), was born at New Gloucester, Me., in 1793 . He said, "Poverty is a good thing to begin the world with, and if rightly improved we can learn something useful from it that we never would learn if born rich."

Ebenezer Lane, Jr., of New Gloucester, wheelwright, paid his uncle, Job Lane of Pejepscott, $$ 200$, with a mortgage for $$ 2 j 0$, Sept., 22, i Si4 $^{2}$, for 30 acres of land with buildings in New Gloucester, it being the northeasterly half of lot Ňo. 20, in the proprietors' second division. The mortgage excepted the right of dower to Peggy Lane, widow of Ebenezer Lane, Jr., deceased. This was the purchase by Mr. Lane the year he became of age, of a part of the original lot on which his grandfather Lane had settled more than half a century before, thus securing a home for his widowed mother. He became a prosperous merchant in New Orleans, La., and in Oxford, Ohio.

Lane Theological Seminary was chartered and a preparatory school opened in 1829. Its organization was a part of a general scheme for the higher education of the Mississippi valley. The Kemper family donated lands which have proved of great value. The seminary possesses attractive buildings and grounds at Walnut Hills, a suburb of Cincinnati. Ebenezer and Andrew Lane gave $$ 4,000.00$ and the name to the institution. A theological department was added in 1832, and it became the first school of theology in Ohio. Dr. Lyman Beecher left his ministry in Boston to become its president and senior theological professor.

But the anti-slavery movement in 1834 brought an unexpected change to affairs in the seminary. The board of trustees requested the discontinuance of the local colonization and anti-slavery societies in the institution, and also the cessation of all discussion of the subject of slavery. This the pupils refused to do. They said, "The ground of our secession from the seminary is that free discussion and correspondent action have been prohibited by law."Signed by 51 persons, Dec. 15, 1837.

A large majority of the students withdrew to Oberlin Collegiate Institute, which was opened in 1833 and chartered in 1834. The students were accompanied by Rev. Asa Mahan, the trustee who openly espoused their cause, and by John Morgan, an instructor in the seminary. Mahan was chosen president at Oberlin in 1835. Morgan was appointed professor of mathematics there, and the same year Rev. Charles G. Finney was called from New York to the chair of theology.

Mr. Lane wrote of the seminary to Rev. James P. Lane, under date of Oct. 24, IS69:
" The plan of founding that institution originated with myself. My brother, Andrew Lane, joined me in a donation to it. It has able professors and a good library, and I trust has done good. But it has not met my expectations. The object of its establishment was to prepare indigent young men for the gospel ministry; and the manual labor system was to be made a prominent feature of the institution, by which young men could preserve their health and meet all or nearly all their necessary expenses. But the manual labor department was badly managed and was abolished. About this time the slavery question caused much excitement and resulted in one of the best professors and about sixty students leaving the institution and going to Oberlin. This was a heavy blow to Lane Seminary, but was a great means of building up Oberlin, which is now the largest and I think the best institution in the state. I still have the strongest confidence in manual labor schools when well managed. But we all know nothing prospers badly managed. I believe in educating the sexes together, and the manual labor system made more prominent than it ever has been in any institution. Twelve hours in the twenty-four should be equally divided between study and labor. The health and expenses of the student require six hours labor per day: and six hours devoted to mental culture will enable a young man of fair talents to get a good education,-one who cannot get it in this time is not worth educating. There are many young men and women in the country who could obtain a liberal education by their own daily labor, if suitable institutions were established. It is the poor we should assist in rising in the world; the rich can take care of themselves. I have a good farm here of 107 acres, and a house $38 \times 76$ feet, sufficiently large for the beginning of a manual labor school, and would use it for this purpose if I could get a suitable person to join me in establishing a school of this kind."

The remarkable career of Hon. Ebenezer Lane has given rise to several attempts to tell his story in the form of fiction.

One account of his life was written by John Babson Lane Soule, and published in J. Friedman & Co.'s Monthly Gazette, Lewiston, Me., for February, 1874. The sketch is entitled "From Thistle Patch to Cincinnati." It purports to give the life of one Robert Lane, who came at length to establish the Lane Theological Seminary, in Cincinnati, Ohio. Ragged Bob, the village vagabond, 16 or 17 years of age, is noticed, lectured, advised and encouraged by lawyer Samuel Fessenden. "And now, Robert," said the Esquire, as the boy was leaving his door, "the next time I hear from you, let me hear something good. Above all things get out of Thistle Patch." Bob runs away, gets a job, studies, takes a school, succeeds, marries one of his pupils, goes to New Orleans, becomes a prosperous merchant, returns wealthy at Cincinnati, and endows the seminary.

Another narrative is the more ambitious romance published among "The Temperance Tales," by Lucius Manlius Sargent, and entitled "Kitty Grafton." The scene is laid in Heathermead End, and Parson More tells the story. The beautiful and accomplished Christiana Jansen, only child of respected and wealthy parents, weds and brings home Ethan Grafton, a thrifty farmer's son. Happy, prosperous years go swiftly by. Sons and daughters bless the home. The godly grandparents die, leaving ample estates and a reputable standing to the family. But farmer Grafton's orchard and his cider, good as wine, proves ultimately his ruin, morally and financially. At length thrift, comfort and happiness forsake the household, and years of sheer misery and domestic warfare ensue. In the midst of it all, while still a young man, the prodigal husband falls from his horse and breaks his neck. He is buried from the poor house, followed to a pauper's grave by his eldest son Elkanah as chief and only mourner. The once brilliant belle of Heathermead End is left a widow, crazed and broken hearted, and her children are left to a cottage of destitution, ignorance and misery. Ethan Grafton's cider was equal to wine.

Elkanah Grafton is kept marvellously pure and helpful through all his childhood of degradation and wretchedness, the only stay of the family. Now nearly 17 years of age, he develops much good sense and wise forecast. He plans to leave home and seek his fortune. Kind friends and wise counsellers appear in Job Rawlins, the shoemaker, Ashur Mellen, the nearest farmer, and in Parson More and wife at the parsonage. One early morning hour, Elky turned his back upon Heathermead End. His traveling outfit was superlatively simple. A small bundle, but containing his grandfather's pocket bible and swung over his shoulder on his grandfather's oaken staff, comprised his whole earthly possessions.

More than six month, elapse when, one day, to the great delight of parsonage and shoe shop, the post brought a double letter from Elkanah. The lad was in New York city; had been porter in a store, had purchased a hand-cart, then a horse and dray, had learned to write and cipher and keep accounts; and the thankful youth had enclosed twenty dollars for his mother and the children. Letters and remittances followed every three or four months.

By the end of fourteen months he had sold his horse and dray and was received to the counting room of A. I. McFinnison $\& \mathbb{C o}$. The firm did an extensive business in the West, and at the end of two years their trusted clerk was at New Orleans and established in business on his own account. When five years had passed, Elkanah Grafton visits Heathermead with abundant means, benevolent purposes and established Christian integrity. His presence was a benediction to the entire hamlet. Mother's cottage, neighbors' shop and farm and parsonage all share in his benign ministrations, while the brothers and sisters are sent to school and college.

Many years passed away. Elkanah still lived, opulent, respected and beloved - the benefactor of his fellow men. In a distant part of our country there is a fountain of learning and piety whose streams have gone forth to refresh and invigorate the world. The Christian student mingles with his thanksgiving to the Most High God, his grateful recollections of its patron that wandering boy who, having no earthly father to comfort and guide him, became the child of God - a steward of the poor, a benefactor of mankind. Such was Elkanah Grafton.

"At the age of eighteen months, while playing in the yard or garden of his father, Fitz H. Lane ate some of the seeds of the apple-peru, and was so unfortunate as to lose the use of his lower limbs in consequence, owing to late and unskilful medical treatment. He showed in boyhood a talent for drawing and painting, but received no instruction in the rules till he went to Boston, at the age of twenty-eight, to work in Pendleton's lithographic establishment. From that time his taste and ability were rapidly developed; and, after a residence of several years in Boston, he came back to Gloucester with a reputation fully established. Since his return to his native town he has painted many pictures, all of which have been much admired. He has often contributed a production of his pencil for the promotion of a benevolent enterprise. With characteristic kindness he furnished the sketches for the engravings of Babson's History of Gloucester.' - Fohn 7. Babson.

OBITUARY NOTICE OF POLLY LANE FOSS.

" Died in East Livermore, Sept. 5, i871, Mrs. Polly Foss, aged 8r years. She experienced religion when quite young; was baptized and united with the First Baptist church in Leeds. Afterward, for a time, she was a member of the Baptist church in Hallowell, Me., and for the few last years was a member of the Second Baptist church in Livermore. For several years she had made her home with her son-in-law, Mr. Benjamin Edgecombe, who with his wife did what they could to make her comfortable and smooth her way down the decline of life. She frequently spoke of their great kindness with pleasure, which contributed very much to her happiness. She adorned her profession by a uniform Christian life. For a long time she was quite feeble and deprived of the privilege of meeting with the church, but frequently sent her love to it, and her great desire for its prosperity. She manifested great patience, and looked forward to the hour of her departure with pleasing anticipations. Her end was peace."

GIDDINGS LANE ${ }^{6}$ (Giddings ${ }^{5}$, Daniel ${ }^{4}$, Samuel ${ }^{3 \cdot 2}$, James ${ }^{1}$ ), 1802-1879, was born in Leeds, Me., 16 Aug., 1802, and died 15 Nov., 1879. He acquired a good common school and academic education, laboring on the farm in the summer and teaching in winter. For half a century he was a leading spirit in his native town and one of the most prominent factors in the business, social and religious life of Leeds.

He made a tour through the South in 1833, introducing the agricultural novelty of Pitts' horse power and separator. He was captain of militia and led his company in the Aroostook War, 1837-1839. He was town treasurer, 1843 to 1850: was one of the originators of the Androscoggin Railroad Co. in 1850, and, as director for 13 years, infused his energy into its construction and operation, was representative in 1854, and active in bringing about the organization of Androscoggin county. In 1862, he organized a gold mining company with Maine and Massachusetts capital, crossed the plains in 1863 with a train of ox and mule teams, loaded with quartz-crushing and other machinery, located his plant fifty miles west of Denver, Col., and for five years gave his personal superintendence to the operations of the company. He built a portion of the Knox and Lincoln Railroad in 1869. The culmination of his business life was the erection, largely due to him, of the Universalist house of worship at Leeds Centre, which was completed and dedicated in 1872 . The Universalist Society was incorporated Nov. 18, 1873; he was chosen clerk and held that office till his death, when his son, G. W. Lane, succeeded him. He was a man of rapid thought, quick decision, unbounded enterprise, and had a rare quality of bringing his labors to a successful completion. Energetic, persevering, and possessed of a magnetism that attracted people and won friends, his business life was a uniform success.

His pastor, Rev. Otis H. Johnson, said, " Brother Lane was one of the most distinguished citizens of Leeds. For many years he was untiring in his exertions in every public enterprise within his reach which had for its object the welfare of his fellow men. As a Christian he was outspoken and faithful in his duties to the cause he deemed of unparalleled excellence in the moral elevation of the world. His pleasant greetings and helpful suggestions will long be remembered.' -George Drew Merrill.

CHARLES FREDERICK HERRESHOFF², '1809-ı888, was born in Providence, R. I., 26 July, 1809, and d. in Bristol, R. I., 8 Sept., 1888.

The emigrant Herreshoff ${ }^{1}$ was from a prominent family of Dessau, Prussia, and came as a scientific engineer to Providence in the last century. He m. a daughter of John Brown of Providence, a steady patriot, who provided the boats that sailed down Narraganset Bay, on the night of June 9, 1772, and burned the British armed schooner " Gaspee," as she lay aground, and who belonged to the family of Hon. Nicholas Brown, who gave its name to Brown University. Mr. Herreshoff moved down the bay from Providence and settled among the trees on Popasquast point, opposite Bristol.

Charles Frederick Herreshoff ${ }^{2}$, a fine attractive gentleman of the sea, built his house in Bristol. He m. is May, i833, JULIA ANN LEWIS ; she b. in Boston, Mass., zo Mar., iSir. Mrs. Herreshoff is living in Bristol, stili, 1897, in a bright and cheeriul old age.

A few yachtsmen and the people of Bristol know the Herreshoffs man from man; the numerous inlanders know only "the Herreshoffs," as a dim aggregation of genius that designs and builds extraordinary sailing craft. There are nine of the Herreshoffs, seven brothers and two sisters. Four of them are blind. Two of the brothers are connected with the yacht-building works founded in 1864. These two men have built up their business and made a name in a single generation. They come rightly by their love for the sea, but they did not inherit their reputation. The fame of the "Gloriana," the "Yamose," the "Defender," and the "Columbia," has fallen, curiously enough, upon an entire family. If the Herreshoffs are cut off from outside associations by their natural reserve, they cling together as a family in a remarkable degree.-Ray Stannard Baker in Harper's Weekly, F̛uly, Ig00.

OBITUARY.

[^8]in Boston, this was his home from early childhood, and here he came at the close of his active outside life to spend his remaining years. He was a successful and enterprising navigator, and rose rapidly in his profession. He commanded some very fine clipper ships and the steamships of the Pacific Mail Service, running between San Francisco and Yokohama. In every place he was the same high-toned, humane and Christian gentleman that we knew him to be in his later life. He had the welfare of his nation on his heart, and no good word or work found him wanting. Funeral services will be held at his late home either Wednesday or Thursday."-Cape Ann Breese, Tuesday, March 31, 1891.

He had an interest with his brothers in their father, James Lane's estate, Rickmansworth, England, June 6, 1654. Like his brother Job, he visited England, returning to America in 1656.
" Passengers aboard the Speedwell of London, Eng., Robert Locke, Master, bound for New England : Edward Lane, aged 36 yrs., May 30, 1656 ."

He soon settled as a merchant in Boston, Mass.
"Subscriptions for the building of ye Town house, Boston, 1657 , paid: Edward Lane pr'mise to pay by the hands of Lievt. Rich. Cook fiue pounds and tenn shillings, I say $£ 5$, ros."

Edward Lane m. i i Dec., 1657 , HANNAH KEAYNE3, dau. of Benjamin ${ }^{2}$ and Anna (Dudley) Keayne. "Mr. Edww Lane was maryed to Hannah Keayne, ir : 10 :'57, By John Endecott Gorr." -Boston Record.

Maj. Benjamin Keayne ${ }^{2}$, only son of Capt. Robert Keayne ${ }^{1}$, was admitted a member of the Boston Artillery Company in 1638, and a freeman of Massachusetts in 1639. He m. Anva, dau. of Gov. Thomas and Dorothy Dudley, "an unhapppy and uncomfortable match." About 1645, he visited England, from which country he never returned. Mrs. Keayne was disciplined by the church for irregular conduct, Nov. 1646, and was excommunicated Oct., 1647. Their only daughter, Anna ${ }^{3}$, was left to the care of her grandparents.

Capt. Robert Keayne ${ }^{1}$ was the earliest settler on the south-western corner of State Street, Boston. He was by business a tailor, and fell under the censure of the court and church for selling his goods at exorbitant prices, as compared with the regular, authorized rates. He was the first commander in 1637 of "the military company of Mass.," chartered in 1638 , the oldest band of citizen soldiery in America, to which the name "Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company', was applied in 1720 . Capt. Robert Keayne was deputy for Boston to the General Court, May 6, 1646. His lawsuit with warlike Mrs. Sherman, about the stray pig, occasioned in 1664 the permanent separation of the Massachusetts Legislature into two houses, each with a veto power upon the other. "There fell out a great business upon a very small occasion. John Winthrop."-Beginnings of New England by Fohn Fiske, pp. 106-108.
"'Capt. Robert Keayne died 23, I mo. '56,'"-Boston Records.

> "Captain Robert Keayne
> First Commander of the Ancient and Honorable Artillery Company I838."'
> - Tombstone, King's Chapel Burying Ground, Boston.

He left large bequests to public uses, among which were legacies for the erection of a town hall where the old state house now stands, for the founding of an alms house and for building a granary; and he supplemented these legacies by other gifts. He further provided that his granddaughter Anna Keayne, "be disposed of for her future education unto some such wise and Godly mistress or family where she may have her carnal disposition most of all subdued and reformed by strict discipline; and also that they would show like care and assistance in seasonable time to provide some fit and Godly match proportionate to her estate and condition, that she may live comfortably and be fit to do good in her place, and not to suffer herself to be circumvented or to cast herself away upon some swaggering gentleman or other that will look more after enjoying what she hath than live in the fear of God and true love to her."

The will, dated at Boston, Dec. 2S, 1653, names 'my son, Major Benjamin Keayne, to be sole executor thereof," and Edward Lane to oversee its execution. "Last sheet of my Will, Page 36 or sides of paper, all of it, yea evy line & word in it being writen with my own hand & my name subscribed at the lower ende of evey page.

Robert Keayne."
The 36 original pages of this will now occupy 158 folio pages of manuscript in the Suffolk Co. Probate Records.

Edward Lane as "overseer," named in the will of Capt. Robert Keayne, showed his care "to provide some fit and Godly match" for the grantee, by marrying her. But difficulties arose. The case between Edward Lane and Anna Keayne, the mother, was before the courts, May 26 and Oct. 18, 1659. He was discharged from guardianship and Symon Bradstreet and Daniel _were appointed in his place, Nov. 12, 659.

Under the same date, Nov. 12, 1659, the Mass. Gen. Court, in consideration of Capt. Robert Keayne's liberal gifts to the country, granted to his widow and grandchild 500 acres of land apiece. The grant to Mrs. Anna Lane was laid out Oct. 16, 1660, and incorporated in the town of Amherst, N. H., Jan. 18, 1760.

[^9]Letter. "To the Worshipfull Jno Winthrop, Esq., Governor, present at Hartford:

Mrs. Lane intreateth your worshipp to send her some advice & medicine for the cure of her joynts which are suposed to be a wind gout, with which she is much pained at times. She desires to present her servis to you & Mrs. Winthropp.

John Tinker from New London, 4th 2 mo: 1660, to John Winthrop, Jr., Governor at Hartford."

Edward Lane was credited to the estate of Robert Battie, Nov. 13, 1660. With Ann his wife he sold for $£ 200$, Dec. 7, 1663, and Feb. I3, $1663-4$, an estate of 40 acres in Malden to Richard Dexter, the earliest American ancestor of that family. The courts reach a settlement in the case between Edward Lane and Mrs. Keayne, Oct. го, 2 1, 1669.

Meanwhile Mr. Lane had died. He had occupied a high social position, was a man of wealth and business capacity and a strict Puritan. He was sorely tried and subject to many harsh imputations against his character in settling the large estate of Capt. Robert Keayne, but he was finally sustained and his conduct thoroughly vindicated.

I. ANNA", "borne 5 th of October, 1660 , . . . deceased 27 June, 166i."
II. Edward, Jr.", "borne 20 Febr. i661-2."-Boston Record.

Mrs. Anna (Keayne) Lane survived her husband many years and m. second, Col. NICHOLAS PAIGE.

Nicholas Paige came from Plymouth, England, to Boston as eariy as 1665. He was appointed captain of a troop in the expedition against Mt. Hope, June 27, 1675, was of the Artillery Company in 1693, and later its commander and colonel of the 2d Suffolk regiment of Foot.
"At a county court for Suffolk held at Boston, 29 Janur Ao 1683: The Executors within nominated of the last will of Capt. Robert Keayne, sometime of Boston decd, hereto annexed, being both dead, power of Admcn of ye Estate of sd Captn Keayne is granted unto Mr. Nicholas Paige and Anna his wife, granddaughter of sd Robert Keayne, to pursue the performance of his will in what remains to be done herein. They to give bond of one thousand pounds to execute the same, their own bond being accepted by ye Court is accordingly taken.

The joint will of Nicholas and Anna (Keayne) Lane-Paige was signed in 1703. Gov. Joseph Dudley heard of the death of his niece while sitting at the Council Board, June 30, 1704. "As the governour sat at the council table 'twas told him Madam Paige was dead. He drop ${ }^{\text {d }}$ his hands \& quickly went out and returned not to the chamber again, but ordered Mr. Secretary to prorogue the courts till the $16^{\text {th }}$ of August, which Mr. Secretary did by going into the House of Deputies."-Diary of Samuel Sewall.

We read this sad record concerning Anna (Keayne) Lane-Paige. "She poorly repaid the care and attention that had been given for her education and happiness, exhibiting in her character and conduct the traits of her mother."

Col. Paige d. at Rumney Marsh, now Chelsea, Mass., and was buried from Capt. Oliver's, 29, 6, 1717 . He had no child.

2.

EDWARD LANE ${ }^{2}$ (Edward ${ }^{1}$ ). The son of Edward Lane ${ }^{1}$, after his mother's second marriage, probably changed his name to Edward Paige. This accounts for the form of the inscription in the Scottish chapel at Leyden, Holland, undoubtedly commemorative of him.

> "Here lieth buried Edward Paige, only son of Nicholas and Anna Paige, born at Boston in New England, Feb. 20, 1622, died in Leyden, Nov. I, 1680. N. S."

The date of birth should read 1662 .

[^8]:    " Capt. George E. Lane died at his home on Leonard street, Sunday afternoon, aged about 69 years.
    "The long vigil is ended, the nights of weariness and suffering are done; and, cold and still and at rest, he lies among all the beautiful tokens of a busy and happy home life. Released from the burdens of poor frail humanity, the promise of Easter fulfilled, a new life, brighter, happier and immortal, is his forevermore. What this loss means to the home left desolate, to wife and sisters and son, we cannot measure in its depth and fullness. But out of our sorrow for the friend and neighbor and citizen we can so illy spare, we offer our truest sympathy, to those who sit in the shadow of a great and bitter grief. Other pens can tell more truly the story of his busy, useful life. Though born [^9]:    "Laide out to Mrs. Anna Lane five hundred acres of land more or lesse in the wildernesse on the west of merrimacke River and about seven miles by estimation from merrimake at a place called by the Indians Quoquina-passkessanahnoy which is upon sowheaganocke River lying two hundred & eighty pole in length upon the River, about two hundred acres lyeth on the north side and three hundred acres on the south side, being bounded wth land laid out for Mr. Davis and Capt. Isacke Johnson on the east, wilderness land elsewhere surrounding the same, as by a plott taken of the same is more fully demonstrated by Jonathan Danforth, surveyor.

    The Court doth Approve allow & Confirme this Returne."
